2 CANDIDATES ARE FREE FROM ANY OPPONENTS

Important Offices in Burleigh County Not Contested in Election Nov. 4

BALLOT IS GIVEN

Bond Issue on Courthouse Is Among Questions Placed Before People

Two candidates for important offices in Burleigh county have no opposition at the November 4 election. The same ballot received here shows only the name of Albin Hedstrom as a candidate for sheriff and the name of Charles Fisher as candidate for clerk of court. Any opposition to them would have to be by the "sticker route."

The non-partisan general election ballot for the county is headed by the candidates for judge of the supreme court. The two contesting are John Burke of Fargo, former governor, and Charles F. Fisk of Minot, a former member of the supreme court. They were nominated in the primary out of a large field.

One other state office is represented on the nonpartisan state ballot, that of state superintendent of public instruction. The two candidates listed are Minnie J. Nielson and Bertha R. Palmer. They were nominated in the June primary, and one is to be elected. Miss Palmer eliminated G. W. Conn in the primary.

The candidates for various county offices are:

County superintendent of schools—Madge Runcy, incumbent, and Marie W. Huber.

Sheriff—Albin Hedstrom.

Auditor—Harry R. Clough and Frank Johnson.

Treasurer—Gerald Richholt and G. L. Spear.

Clerk of court—Charles J. Fisher. Register of Deeds—Fred Swenson and Jessie M. Van Hook.

States attorney—Edward S. Allen and F. E. McCurdy.

County judge—J. C. Davies and John E. Ford.

Public administrator—no candidate.

County surveyor—T. R. Atkinson.

County coroner—E. J. Gobel and B. F. Flannagan.

Justice of the Peace (4 to be elected)—Anton Beer, C. G. Boise, W. S. Casselman, Rowland H. Crane, W. D. Perkins, A. E. Shipp.

Official newspaper—The Bismarck Tribune and Farmer-Labor State Record.

There will be also the large general political ballot and three small ballots are on the question of a bond issue for a courthouse, the initiated tax measure and the special election for Congressman in the Second Congressional District.

The courthouse measure reads: "Whether or not a court house and jail shall be constructed that the sum of $300,000.00 be raised by the issuing of bonds for that purpose, bonds to run for 10 years, at a rate of interest not to exceed 5 percent per annum; and a tax to be levied for 10 years to pay said bonds and interest in addition to the unusual taxes required to be levied; the amount of taxes to be $30,000.00 per year, but not to exceed 3 mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of the county in any one year."

The matter is not put in the form of a direct question, but the lines below are for voting "yes" or "no."

There also is on the ballot the names of candidates for judges for the fourth district, including Burleigh county. The candidates are District Judges Fred Jansons and J. A. Coffey, and J. A. Murphy, understood to be a justice of the peace in Jamestown.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND HANGING IN APPLE TREE

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Suspended from the limb of an apple tree on the old Lennerville farm just south of the city by a bit of sash cord the body of Mrs. Rudolph Frank, 55, who disappeared from her home in South Dickinson a week ago Tuesday, was found late Saturday afternoon by two boys as they started out on a hunting trip. The discovery of the body, which in the opinion of Coroner A. D. Davis and his jury, had hung exposed to the weather for several days, ended a four day frantic search on the part of relatives and county officials for the woman who had mysteriously disappeared from her home and had failed to return.

It is believed that Mrs. Frank wandered from her home while temporarily deranged and that due to her unfortunate condition had carefully planned the rash act. When she failed to return home the same night relatives took up the search and a day later appealed to the authorities for help.

Mrs. Frank was born in Russia 55 years ago. She was twice married and leaves the husband and several children. Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Abert officiating, and interment was made in the church cemetery.

SHE WAS BLIND'S "ANGEL"

Mrs. Lewis B. Woodruff, playwright and author, killed in a fall from a second story window of her New York home, was known as an "angel" to the blind. Royalties from one of her books went toward the establishment of the "Lighthouse for the Blind." Artists considered her one of the world's most beautiful women.

BERG HEADS TEACHER BODY

Dickinson Man Is Elected President at Mandan

Mandan, N. D., Oct. 18.—Supt. P. S. Berg of the Dickinson city schools was elected president of the Southwestern District, North Dakota Education association at the general business meeting of the 500 or more teachers attending the annual convention. He will succeed H. K. Jensen, county superintendent of Morton county who has headed the district organization for the past year.

Other new officers elected were vice-president, Co. Supt. Henry Hanson of Linton; secretary, Supt. T. Rugland, Beach; treasurer, Supt. Iver Grindstein, Belfield.

Supt. J. C. Gould of the Mandan public schools was named as the southwestern district representative of the resolutions committee of the state Education association; Supt. Martha Brachter, Mott, member of the state teachers welfare committee; Supt. H. O. Saxvik, Bismarck, member of the legislative committee; and Pres. S. T. May, Dickinson normal, was named vice president of the State association for this district.

DEATH STORY OF DICKINSON PEOPLE HOAX

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Telegraphic messages received in the city early Saturday morning telling of the death in an auto wreck at Carlisle, Wis., of Mrs. Carl McBride and two children of Dickinson, caused friends of the E. D. McBride family, well known former residents of the city, no little concern for a time. It was believed that the victims were Mrs. Earl McBride and children who now live at Sheboygan, that state.

The Friday issue of a Chippewa Falls, Wis., paper, however, cleared up the mystery. The story of the wreck and deaths was given to the press of that city the day previous by a young woman who gave her name as Mabel Olson. Miss Olson told reporters that she had been advised of the tragedy by an uncle, who said that Mrs. McBride and her two young daughters were driving in the car together with J. C. Kron, an undertaker from Dickinson, when it turned turtle. That Kron, who was married, Mrs. McBride in November, was only slightly injured and gave the alarm. She further declared that the bodies had been shipped to Dickinson for burial beside the husband and father who was electrocuted here in a storm two years ago.

Wisconsin officials investigating found the story of the girl to be a pure fabrication. There had been no accident. No bodies were found. There has never been an undertaker in Dickinson by that name and no one by the name of McBride has ever met violent death here.

FIVE STACKS OF GRAIN BURNED

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Fire destroyed five stacks of grain on the Chas. Gallagher farm in the Heart River vicinity last Tuesday night. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin, but no motive for the act is known and no trace has been found leading to any suspects of the crime.

The stacks were large stacks of headed wheat from 50 acres and the field was an exceptionally good one.

SOLICITORS LAW IN COURT

Firm Takes Minot Ordinance To U. S. Court

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—Application for a "restraining injunction" restraining the City of Minot from enforcing the solicitors ordinance recently enacted here has been made to U. S. district court by the Real Silk Hosiery mills of Indianapolis, Ind., and hearing will be held before Federal Judge Andrew Miller at Fargo, Oct. 27.

Trade Restraint Alleged

The Indianapolis concern, which sells hosiery through solicitors, alleges the ordinance "will abridge the privilege and immunities of the plaintiff and will deprive the plaintiff and other citizens of liberty and property without due process of law," and also "will unlawfully interfere with and burden interstate commerce."

The complaint says the plaintiff does an annual business of more than $100,000.00 and the sum involved in Minot exceeds $3,000.

The ordinance was passed on suggestion of the Minot Association of Commerce to protect Minot citizens against unreliable solicitors. It requires that all solicitors receiving a deposit in advance of delivery must post a surety bond with the city auditor to protect the customer and must also take out a license, the license fee being placed at $5 monthly and $12.50 quarterly for those soliciting on foot and twice these amounts for those using a vehicle.

The hosiery mills declare the Minot Association of Commerce is attempting to harass and annoy the plaintiff and drive them from the field as competitors of local dealers. City Attorney R. H. Bosard will appear at Fargo to defend the ordinance.

M. E. CHURCHES SHOW GAINS

More Members Added During Year in North Dakota

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—Preparatory members received into the Methodist church in North Dakota during the last year increased 6 percent, and now total 804, according to statistics presented today to the annual North Dakota conference of the Methodist church, meeting here. The full number of members now on roll is 12,859.

"Men and Evangelism" is the topic to be discussed tonight by Dr. W. E. J. Grantz of Chicago, editor of the Epworth Herald.

Bishop H. Lester Smith of Helena, Mont., presiding official, today discussed child conversion to Christianity, which he declared differed from adult conversion.

"We spend too much time on things that are not essential," said Bishop Smith, in speaking about the controversies centering around child conversion. "Evil is in the world and we are foolish to spend time in discussing how it came. It is our duty to deal with it." "The Yankee in the Orient" was his topic last evening.

Epworth league delegates from various sections will be formally received at the conference tomorrow. A banquet will be held for them, with the Rev. J. D. Smith, conference president, presiding.

BANK DEPOSITS IN NORTHWEST RISE RAPIDLY

Estimated to Have Increased More Than $100,000,000 Within Few Weeks

RESERVES BANK TOTAL

Remarkable Showing Made by Ninth District Federal Reserve Institution

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—Bank deposits in the northwest have increased more than $100,000,000 in the last two weeks.

As a direct result of the large northwest grain crop moving to markets, sustained by the new European buying power arising from the settlement under the Dawes repatriation plan, deposits of member banks with the Federal Reserve Bank at Minneapolis, in two weeks, made the most remarkable gain in the history of the institution, the weekly balance sheet of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank today showed. Deposits of the nearly 1,000 member banks with the federal bank were $57,013,317. Two weeks ago, the statement showed, the figure was $49,489,390.

Means $100,000,000 Gain

A $7,000,000 gain at the "federal" means a $100,000,000 gain in deposits in member banks, according to the ratio reckoned at the bank. Moreover, there are 2,200 banks in the ninth reserve district which are not members of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Therefore, the gain in reality is greater than $100,000,000 according to Minneapolis bankers.

Twin City banks must keep 10 percent of their demand deposits and 3 percent of their time deposits in the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Other member banks in the district must keep 7 percent of their demand deposits and 3 percent of their time on deposit in the "federal."

Due Wholly to Grain Movement

Bankers said that the huge wholly is due to the marketing of the grain crop and that the extraordinary size of it is due to the unusually large crop and the export demand that is buying prices.

The deposit figure of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank ordinarily changes slowly. It shows slight fluctuations. From Jan. 1, 1922 to Jan. 1, 1923, the deposit figure climbed from $42,000,000 to $49,000,000, or a gain in 12 months than in the last two weeks.

On July 30, 1924, the figure was $15,999,784; August 27, $46,976,129; September 24, $50,129,711; October 1, $49,489,390; October 8, $51,212,351; and October 15, $57,013,317.

Reduction in Loans

The comparison of the figures at the corresponding period a year ago shows no such leap as in the last two weeks, and also illustrates how steady ordinarily is this "redeposit" figure. For August 29, 1924, the figure was $40,639,000; September 26, $46,759,000; October 3, $43,101,000; October 10, $47,846,000, and October 17, $46,468,000.

Deposits in Minneapolis banks were shown by the last response to the call of the controller to have risen $50,000,000 over a year ago.

With the rise in bank deposits from the new crop money, there has come a sharp reduction in outstanding loans to member banks. The October 15 statement showed $8,076,747 outstanding. On October 17, 1924, the figure was $29,311,111.

Member banks reported heavy payments of interest on farm mortgages and increases in deposits from county treasurers in their country correspondent banks.

NOMINATIONS FOR ENGLAND'S VOTING MADE

Fewer Liberal Candidates, More Labor Candidates, Feature of Day

London, Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Nominations of candidates for the parliamentary elections to be held October 29 are being made today throughout Great Britain and northern Ireland.

It is calculated that the candidates will number approximately 1,400. It is noteworthy that the Liberals are nominating about 100 fewer than in the last election while the Laborites will have about 100 more than on that occasion, and according to a statement made last night will total well over 100, representing the biggest effort they have yet made.

There are many instances of fathers and sons appealing for election, mostly on the same ticket. A striking exception of family political argument is that of the Oliver Baldwin, the conservative leader's son, being a champion of Labor.

2 POLICEMEN KILLED WHILE HOLDING THIEF

Policeman Pursues Negro in Hallway, Is Attacked

New York, Oct. 18.—Two policemen were seriously injured and a negro was killed following an attempt of Patrolman Blank to arrest an alleged purse snatcher in the negro section of Harlem.

As Blank and his prisoner entered a dark hallway in which the latter is alleged to have thrown the purse while being pursued the policeman was attacked by James Walter Charles, a negro.

Charles seized the policeman's night stick and then kicked him into a semi-conscious condition. Police James Callan, rushing to Blank's aid, was hit over the head with a night stick and had his left ear bitten off by Charles, who was finally killed when Callan entered his gun into the negro's chest.

During the excitement the suspected purse snatcher escaped.

HEADLESS BODY OF MAN FOUND

Police Working on Three Theories in Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 18.—The headless and silken pajama clad body of John Lacaglia, wealthy Italian merchant, was found in his luxuriously furnished apartment today. The head had been severed by an ax and the assassin had carefully covered the body with silk bed-clothes.

The police said they were working on three theories—that Lacaglia was the victim of black hands, bootleggers or a woman.

A search of the apartment disclosed a great variety of expensive clothing for both a man and a woman. Two baskets filled with bottles of liquor also were found.

$22,983 PAID TO WOMAN

North Dakota Woman Gets Sum for Husband's Death

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—What is said to be the biggest damage claim ever awarded by the Northern Pacific railway was secured last week by Mrs. Carrie Collis, widow of William Collis, Sentinel Butte rancher, who was killed in a crossing accident in that village a year ago. In the settlement made through Simpson & Mackoff, local attorneys, Mrs. Collis, who was also badly injured in the crash, gets $22,983.

The accident occurred when Northern Pacific train No. 1 sidetracked the buggy in which the Collis' were driving to the ranch home on one of the main crossings of the Golden Valley county village. Both were buried in the wreckage and terribly injured. Rushed to the company hospital at Glendive, Mr. Collis died a few days later. It was months before Mrs. Collis had recovered sufficiently to be returned to her home.

FIERCE BATTLE IS FOUGHT FOR CHINESE POINT

Forces of Peking Government and Manchurian War Lord Fight for City

MAY BE CRITICAL

Result of Battle Likely to Decide Victory in Chinese Civil War

Peking, Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Fighting between the invading Manchurian forces of General Chung Tso-lin and the armies of the Peking government is being carried on with such violence and added intensity at Shangkaiwan, that the outcome may decide the winner in the conflict for control of the central Chinese government, according to observers, who returned today from the Chihli-Manchurian front.

Both sides are putting forward their best fighting units in the battle front for the important strategic entrance to Shangkaiwan, which is located near the Manchurian-Chihli border and is held by central government troops.

According to observers, the purpose of the invading Manchurian troops is to break through the line at Shangkaiwan before the troops in the Jehol region, a separated front, become a menace to the Manchurian flanking forces.

Lines Weakened

It is also reported that General Chang Tso-lin has been forced to weaken his lines at Jehol and Ching in order to stiffen his attacks around Shangkaiwan. In the latter sector the fighting has been heavier around the village of Shimenka, which has changed hands repeatedly under the artillery fire of both sides. Guns are mounted in the hills overlooking the town.

From all appearances, observers report, neither side has gained a decided advantage in the fighting thus far. It is said that General Wu Peifu, military head of the Peking government, has not yet launched a serious offensive, being satisfied to protect his lines against surprise movements on the part of the invading forces while additional Peking troops are being sent to the front.

QUET IN CANTON

Canton, Oct. 18.—With conditions approaching normal, following the fighting between the merchants' volunteer corps and the "red army" of Chinese laborers, martial law has been partially lifted; a majority of the troops have been withdrawn from the city and the remainder are carrying on a shop to shop search disarming the merchants.

It is estimated that the value of the property destroyed by the fires resulting from the street fighting is $7,000,000. Many looters, soldiers and civilians have been shot by order of the police.

The police have also ordered the arrest of Chan Lim Pak, head of the merchants' volunteer corps, and six of his associates.

Mrs. Harvey, wife of Dr. J. K. Harvey, an American of the Canton hospital, was wounded in the wrist by a stray bullet during the fighting.

ENDS LIFE

The death of Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut is considered a blow to the Republican organization. It will leave Connecticut with but one senator as it will be some time before a special election to fill the vacancy can be held. Senator Borah of Idaho probably will succeed him as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. This is believed to be Senator Brandegee's last picture, taken a short time before his death.

GIRL, 19, HELD NOT GUILTY OF KILLING MAN

Violet Dickerson, in Court With 4-Months-Old Baby. Is Given Freedom

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Violet Dickerson, 19-year-old mother, was today acquitted of the charge of murder in the holdup and killing of Louis Hirsch, an aged storekeeper, last November.

The girl's case was given to the jury late yesterday and when no verdict had been reached at 9 p. m. Judge McDevitt ordered the jury locked up for the night. He said he took this action so early in the night out of consideration for the girl and her four-months-old baby.

Miss Dickerson took the witness stand in the closing hours of her trial and declared that for 12 days prior to the fatal shooting she was under the complete domination, mentally and physically, of Charles Oeffinger, her companion on the night of the tragedy, who was convicted last December of first degree murder and sentenced to death for the killing. It was Oeffinger, she said, who fired the shot after coercing her to accompany him to Hirsch's store. In the 12 days that she and Oeffinger occupied a room together, she testified, she was beaten by him, threatened with death and exposure of her approaching motherhood if she did not stand by him.

Hirsch was shot last November when he resisted attempt of Oeffinger and Miss Dickerson to rob him. Oeffinger was arrested immediately after the shooting but the girl escaped and was captured the following night. Both admitted the hold-up but each accused the other of having fired the fatal shot.

LA FOLLETTE TAKES REST

Next Speech in His Campaign Tour Is in Omaha

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for President, announced today he would spend the last two weeks of the campaign stumpng in the middle west and east instead of making a trip to the Pacific Coast as he had planned.

The Wisconsin Senator, who delivered a speech last night, rested today preparatory to moving to Omaha, where he is scheduled to speak Monday night. From Omaha Mr. La Follette will turn east, speaking in Rock Island, Illinois, and Peoria. His engagements after the Peoria speech remain to be determined.

BANDITS RAID BANK, ESCAPE

Springport, Mich., Oct. 18.—No trace has been found of the five bandits who robbed the State Savings Bank of Springport of $5,000 in money and $70,000 in negotiable securities. The five men locked fire bank employees and five patrons in the bank vault, gathered up all the securities and cash available and fled in a car. A detachment of 10 motorcycle and four auto loads of men from the state police headquarters are searching for the bandits.

PROBE REVEALS NO DEMAND FOR MUCH STORAGE

Only Few Thousand Bushels of Grain Put in it For Storage

RECALLS OLD FIGHT

Long Struggle For Terminal Elevators Within State Reflected in Story

The huge elevator storage capacity provided by the state of North Dakota in connection with the state-owned, state-operated flour mill at Grand Forks has been little used in the period of approximately two years it has been in operation, investigation reveals. The experience of the elevator department of the project has been somewhat lost sight of in the public consideration of the financial history of the project, attention having been centered upon the mill.

The mill and elevator project had its inception in demands for the building of terminal elevators in which farmers might store their grain, and the question of terminal elevators was a factor in North Dakota politics for many years.

The elevator department of the state project was not operated as a unit separate from the mill until April 1, 1924, and in the latest accountant's report to the state board of auditors by O. B. Lund, accountant, the elevator unit's operations are covered only for the brief period of three months.

On June 30, 1924, the accountant's report shows, the elevator had in storage for persons or firms but 722 bushels of spring wheat, 923.30 bushels of durum and 436.52 bushels of flax and other coarse grains.

There was no grain stored in the elevator for individuals and then shipped out again to other markets, prior to April 1, 1924, according to Mr. Lund.

Plenty of Space

Early in October, this year, a statement was made to newspapers that the elevator's storage business was increasing, probably due to the Duluth embargo, which has since been raised, but stating that there was plenty of space in the elevator for storage. The same newspaper dispatch quoted P. A. Lee of the North Dakota Farmers Grain Dealers' Association as stating that less grain was stored this year than usual, because of prices, and it is known that state officials do not anticipate great use of the elevator this fall. It is understood here that of the grain recently stored one or two carloads were from Minnesota points.

The question of the value of terminal storage within the state for North Dakota farmers has been debated often in North Dakota. Those who have contended that such elevators were unnecessary hold that the two-years' experience of the state elevator at Grand Forks shows that the state-owned project is not desired by the farmers.

None Before April 1

Mr. Lund, whose duty was as an accountant for the state board of auditors, under the law, to provide information for the public regarding its state elevator and mill, also was state supervisor of grains and grains at the time the mill opened in 1922.

"There was no grain stored in the elevator that was taken in and then shipped out again to market," said Mr. Lund. "That is, no grain was sent to Grand Forks by farmers and stored for a time and then sent to Minneapolis or other markets. All grain held on storage tickets was taken up by the mill eventually."

The construction account in the latest audit report shows the cost of the mill and elevator project as $3,044,352.89. Apparently, from the reports, the state has an investment of well over a million dollars in the

GIRL SLAIN, HUNT SUITOR

Believe That Attacker Committed Suicide

Conkhon, Mich., Oct. 18.—Early today police who last night guarded this vicinity took up the search for Erbert Dyke, wanted in connection with the fatal attack on Miss Molly Fleming, 23-year-old school teacher. Miss Fleming was found by pupils in a shed at the rear of the school shortly after the children had been dismissed.

The young woman, with a large gash cut in her head, was unconscious when found and died several hours later. A bloody ax was found near her. Children attending the school said that Dyke, a reputed former suitor, had been seen on the school grounds when school was dismissed. Late last night his automobile was found abandoned in a cemetery. The abandoned automobile led officers to believe Dyke had killed himself.

Two candidates for important offices in Burleigh county have no opposition at the November 4 election. The same ballot received here shows only the name of Albin Hedstrom as a candidate for sheriff and the name of Charles Fisher as candidate for clerk of court. Any opposition to them would have to be by the "sticker route."

The non-partisan general election ballot for the county is headed by the candidates for judge of the supreme court. The two contesting are John Burke of Fargo, former Governor, and Charles F. Fisk of Minot, a former member of the supreme court. They were nominated in the primary out of a large field.

One other state office is represented on the non-partisan state ballot, that of state superintendent of public instruction. The two candidates listed are Minnie J. Nielson and Bertha R. Palmer. They were nominated in the June primary, and one is to be elected. Miss Palmer eliminated G. W. Conn in the primary.

The candidates for various county offices are:

County superintendent of schools—Madge Runey, incumbent, and Marie W. Huber.

Sheriff—Albin Hedstrom.

Auditor—Harry R. Clough and Frank Johnson.

Treasurer—Gerald Richholt and G. L. Spear.

Clerk of court—Charles J. Fisher.

Official newspaper—The Bismarck Tribune and Farmer-Labor State Record.

There will be also the large general political ballot and three small ballots are on the question of a bond issue for a courthouse, the initiative tax measure and the special election for Congressman in the Second Congressional District.

The courthouse measure reads: "Whether or not a court house and jail shall be constructed that the sum of $300,000.00 be raised by the issuing of bonds for that purpose; bonds to run for 10 years, at a rate of interest not to exceed 5 percent per annum; and a tax to be levied for 10 years to pay said bonds and interest in addition to the unusual taxes required to be levied; the amount of taxes to be $30,000.00 per year, but not to exceed 3 mills on the dollar on the assessed valuation of the county in any one year."

The matter is not put in the form of a direct question, but the lines below are for voting "yes" or "no."

There also is on the ballot the names of candidates for judges for the fourth district, including Burleigh county. The candidates are District Judges Fred Jannous and J. A. Coffey, and J. A. Murphy, understood to be a justice of the peace in Jamestown.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND HANGING IN APPLE TREE

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Suspended from the limb of an apple tree on the old Lennerville farm just south of the city by a bit of sash cord the body of Mrs. Rudolph Frank, 55, who disappeared from her home in South Dickinson a week ago Tuesday, was found late Saturday afternoon by two boys as they started out on a hunting trip. The discovery of the body, which in the opinion of Coroner A. D. Davis and his jury, had hung exposed to the weather for several days, ended a four day frantic search on the part of relatives and county officials for the woman, who had mysteriously disappeared from her home and had failed to return.

It is believed that Mrs. Frank wandered from her home while temporarily deranged and that due to her unfortunate condition had carefully planned the rash act. When she failed to return home the same night relatives took up the search and a day later appealed to the authorities for help.

Mrs. Frank was born in Russia 55 years ago. She was twice married and leaves the husband and several children. Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Aberie officiating, and interment was made in the church cemetery.

Mandan, N. D., Oct. 18.—Supt. P. S. Berg of the Dickinson city schools was elected president of the Southwestern District, North Dakota Education association at the general business meeting of the 500 or more teachers attending the annual convention. He will succeed H. K. Jensen, county superintendent of Morton county who has headed the district organization for the past year.

Other new officers elected were vice-president, Co. Supt. Henry Hanson of Linton; secretary, Supt. G. T. Rugland, Beach; treasurer Supt. Iver Grindstein, Belfield.

Supt. J. C. Gould of the Mandan public schools was named as the southwestern district representative of the resolutions committee of the state education association; Supt. Martha Brachter, Mott, member of the state teachers welfare committee; Supt. H. O. Saxvik, Bismarck, member of the legislative committee; and Pres. S. T. May, Dickinson normal, was named vice president of the State association for this district.

DEATH STORY OF DICKINSON PEOPLE HOAX

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Telegraphic messages received in the city early Saturday morning telling of the death in an auto wreck at Cadott, Wis., of Mrs. Carl McBride and two children of Dickinson, caused friends of the E. D. McBride family, well known former residents of the city, no little concern for a time. It was believed that the victims were Mrs. Earl McBride and children who now live at Sheboygan, that state.

The Friday issue of a Chippewa Falls, Wis., paper, however, cleared up the mystery. The story of the wreck and deaths was given to the press of that city the day previous by a young woman who gave her name as Mabel Olson. Miss Olson told reporters that she had been advised of the tragedy by an uncle, who said that Mrs. McBride and her two young daughters were driving in the car together with J. C. Kron, an undertaker from Dickinson, when it turned turtle. That Kron, who was to have married Mrs. McBride in November, was only slightly injured and gave the alarm. She further declared that the bodies had been shipped to Dickinson for burial beside the husband and father who was electrocuted here in a storm two years ago.

Wisconsin officials investigating found the story of the girl to be a pure fabrication. There had been no accident. No bodies were found. There has never been an undertaker in Dickinson by that name and no one by the name of McBride has ever met violent death here.

FIVE STACKS OF GRAIN BURNED

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—Fire destroyed five stacks of grain on the Chas. Gallagher farm in the Heart River vicinity last Tuesday night. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin, but no motive for the act is known and no trace has been found leading to any suspects of the crime.

The stacks were large stacks of headed wheat from 50 acres and the field was an exceptionally good one.

SOLICITORS LAW IN COURT

Firm Takes Minot Ordinance To U. S. Court

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—Application for a federal injunction restraining the City of Minot from enforcing the solicitors ordinance recently enacted has been made to U. S. district court by the Real Silk Hosiery mills of Indianapolis, Ind., and hearing will be held before Federal Judge Andrew Miller at Fargo, Oct. 27.

Trade Restraint Alleged

The Indianapolis concern, which sells hosiery through solicitors, alleges the ordinance "will abridge the privileges and immunities of the plaintiff and other citizens of liberty and property without due process of law," and also "will unlawfully interfere with and burden interstate commerce."

The complaint says the plaintiff does an annual business of more than $100,000 and the sum involved in Minot exceeds $3,000.

The ordinance was passed on suggestion of the Minot Association of Commerce to protect Minot citizens against unreliable solicitors. It requires that all solicitors receiving a deposit in advance of delivery must post a surety bond with the city auditor to protect the customer and must also take out a license, the license fee being placed at $5 monthly and $12.50 quarterly for those soliciting on foot and twice these amounts for those using a vehicle.

The hosiery mills declare the Minot Association of Commerce is attempting to harass and annoy the plaintiff and drive them from the field as competitors of local dealers. City Attorney R. H. Bosard will appear at Fargo to defend the ordinance.

BANK DEPOSITS
IN NORTHWEST
RISE RAPIDLY

Estimated to Have Increased
More Than $100,000,000
Within Few Weeks

RESERVES BANK TOTAL

Remarkable Showing Made by Ninth District Federal Reserve Institution

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—Bank deposits in the northwest have increased more than $100,000,000 in the last two weeks. As a direct result of the large northwest grain crop moving to markets, sustained by the new European buying power arising from the settlement under the Dawes reparations plan, deposits of member banks with the Federal Reserve Bank at Minneapolis, in two weeks, made the most remarkable gain in the history of the institution, the weekly balance sheet of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank today showed. Deposits of the nearly 1,000 member banks with the federal bank were $57,013,317. Two weeks ago, the statement showed, the figure was $49,469,390.

Means $100,000,000 Gain

A $7,000,000 gain at the "federal" means a $100,000,000 gain in deposits in member banks, according to the ratio reckoned at the bank. Moreover, there are 2,200 banks in the ninth reserve district which are not members of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Therefore, the gain in reality is greater than $100,000,000 according to Minneapolis bankers.

Two City banks must keep 10 per cent of their demand deposits and 3 per cent of their time deposits in the Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Other member banks in the district must keep 7 per cent of their demand deposits and 3 per cent of their time on deposit in the "federal."

Due Wholly to Grain Movement

Bankers said that the bulge wholly is due to the marketing of the grain crop and that the extraordinary size of it is due to the unusually large crop and the export demand that is buoying prices.

The deposit figure of the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank ordinarily changes slowly. It shows slight fluctuations from Jan. 1, 1922, to Jan. 1, 1923, the deposit figure climbed from $42,000,000 to $45,000,000, smaller gain in 12 months than in the last two weeks.

On July 30, 1924, the figure was $45,990,584; August 27, $46,976,120; September 24, $50,129,711; October 1, $49,469,390; October 8, $51,212,951; and October 15, $57,013,317.

Reduction in Loans

The comparison of the figures of the corresponding period a year ago shows no such leap as in the last two weeks, and also illustrates how steady ordinarily is this "deposit" figure. For August 29, 1924, the figure was $46,629,000; September 26, $46,759,000; October 3, $48,101,000; October 10, $47,846,000; and October 17, $46,468,000.

Deposits in Minneapolis banks were shown by the last response to the call of the controller to have risen $50,000,000 over a year ago.

With the rise in bank deposits from the new crop money, there has come a sharp reduction in outstanding loans to member banks. The October 15 statement showed $8,076,747 outstanding. On October 17, 1923, the figure was $29,311,111.

Minneapolis bankers reported heavy payments of interest on farm mortgages and increased in deposits from county treasurers in their country correspondent banks.

M. E. CHURCHES SHOW GAINS

More Members Added During Year in North Dakota

Minot, N. D., Oct. 18.—Preparatory members received into the Methodist church in North Dakota during the last year increased 6 per cent, and now total 804, according to statistics presented today to the annual North Dakota conference of the Methodist church, meeting here. The full number of members now on roll is 12,839.

"Men and Evangelism," is the topic to be discussed tonight by Dr. W. E. J. Grant, Chicago, editor of the Epworth Herald.

Bishop H. Lester Smith of Helena, Mont., presiding official, today discussed child conversion to christianity, which he declared differed from adult conversion.

"We spend too much time on things that are not essential," said Bishop Smith, in speaking about the controversy centering around child conversion. "Evil is in the world and we are foolish to spend time in discussing how it came. It is our duty to deal with it." "The Yankee in the Orient," was his topic last evening.

Epworth league delegates from various sections will be formally received at the conference tomorrow. A banquet will be held for them, with the Rev. J. D. Smith, conference president, presiding.

VOTING MADE

Fewer Liberal Candidates,
More Labor Candidates,
Feature of Day

London, Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Nominations of candidates for the parliamentary elections to be held October 29 are being made today throughout Great Britain and northern Ireland.

It is calculated that the candidates will number approximately 1,400. It is noteworthy that the Liberals are nominating about 100 fewer than in the last election while the Laborites will have about 100 more than on that occasion, and according to a statement made last night will total well over 100, representing the biggest effort they have yet made.

There are many instances of fathers and sons appealing for election, mostly on the same ticket. A striking exception of family political argument is that of the Oliver Baldwin, the conservative leader's son, being a champion of Labor.

Policeman Pursues Negro in Hallway, Is Attacked

New York, Oct. 18.—Two policemen were seriously injured and a negro was killed following an attempt of Patrolman Blank to arrest an alleged purse snatcher in the negro section of Harlem.

As Blank and his prisoner entered a dark hallway in which the latter is alleged to have thrown the purse while being pursued the policeman was attacked by James Walter Charles, a negro.

Charles seized the policeman's night stick and then kicked him into a semi-conscious condition. Police James Callan, rushing to Blank's aid, was hit over the head with his stick and had his left ear bitten off by Charles, who was finally killed when Callan entered his gun into the negro's chest.

During the excitement the suspected purse snatcher escaped.

Police Working on Three Theories in Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 18.—The headless and silken pajama clad body of John Lacaglia, wealthy Italian merchant, was found in his luxuriously furnished apartment today. The head had been severed by an ax and the assassin had carefully covered the body with silk bed-clothes.

The police said they were working on three theories—that Lacaglia was the victim of black hand, bootleggers or a woman.

A search of the apartment disclosed a great variety of expensive clothing for both a man and a woman. Two baskets filled with bottles of liquor also were found.

North Dakota Woman Gets Sum for Husband's Death

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 18.—What is said to be the biggest damage claim ever awarded by the Northern Pacific railway was secured last week by Mrs. Carrie Collis, widow of William Collis, Sentinel Butte rancher, who was killed in a crossing accident at that village a year ago. In the settlement made through Simpson & Mackoff, local attorneys, Mrs. Collis, who was also badly injured in the crash, gets $22,983.

The accident occurred when Northern Pacific train No. 1 sidwiped the buggy in which the Collis' were driving to the ranch home on one of the main crossings of the Golden Valley country village. Both were buried in the wreckage and terribly injured. Rushed to the company hospital at Glendive Mr. Collis died a few days later. It was months before Mrs. Collis had recovered sufficiently to be returned to her home.

FIERCE BATTLE IS FOUGHT FOR CHINESE POINT

Forces of Peking Government and Manchurian War Lord
Fight For City

MAY BE CRITICAL

Result of Battle Likely to Decide Victory in Chinese Civil War

Peking, Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Fighting between the invading Manchurian forces of General Chang Tso-lin and the armies of the Peking government is being carried on with such violence and added intensity at Shangkaiwan, that the outcome may decide the winner in the conflict for control of the central Chinese government, according to observers, who returned today from the Chihli-Manchurian front.

Both sides are putting forward their best fighting units in the battle front for the important strategic entrances to Shangkaiwan, which is located near the Manchurian-Chihli border and is held by central government troops.

According to observers, the purpose of the invading Manchurian troops is to break through the line at Shangkaiwan before the troops in the Jehol region, a separated front, become a menace to the Manchurian flanking forces.

Lines Weakened

It is also reported that General Chang Tso-lin has been forced to weaken his lines at Jehol and Ching-fu in order to stiffen his attacks around Shangkaiwan. In the latter sector the fighting has been heavier around the village of Shinkaiwan, which has changed hands repeatedly under the artillery fire of both sides. Guns are mounted in the hills overlooking the town.

From all appearances, observers report, neither side has gained a decided advantage in the fighting thus far. It is said that General Wu Peifu, military head of the Peking government, has not yet launched a serious offensive, being satisfied to protect his lines against surprise movement on the part of the invading forces while additional Peking troops are being sent to the front.

QUET IN CANTON

Canton, Oct. 18.—With conditions approaching normal, following the fighting between the merchants' volunteer corps and the "red army" of Chinese laborers, martial law has been partially lifted; a majority of the troops have been withdrawn from the city and the remainder are carrying on a shop to shop search disarming the merchants.

It is estimated that the value of the property destroyed by the fires resulting from the street fighting is $7,000,000. Many looters, soldiers and civilians, have been shot by order of the police.

The police have also ordered the arrest of Chan Lim Pak, head of the merchants' volunteer corps, and six of his associates.

Mrs. Harvey, wife of Dr. J. K. Harvey, an American of the Canton hospital, was wounded in the wrist by a stray bullet during the fighting.

ENDS LIFE

The death of Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut is considered a blow to the Republican organization. It will leave Connecticut with but one senator as it will be some time before a special election to fill the vacancy can be held. Senator Borah of Idaho probably will succeed him as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. This is believed to be Senator Brandegee's last picture, taken a short time before his death.

GIRL, 19, HELD
NOT GUILTY OF
KILLING MAN

Violet Dickerson, in Court
With 4-Months-Old Baby,
Is Given Freedom

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Violet Dickerson, 19-year-old mother, was today acquitted of the charge of murder in the holdup and killing of Louis Hirsch, an aged storekeeper, last November.

The girl's case was given to the jury late yesterday and when no verdict had been reached at 9 p. m. Judge McDevitt ordered the jury locked up for the night. He said he took this action so early in the night out of consideration for the girl and her four-months-old baby.

Miss Dickerson took the witness stand in the closing hours of her trial and declared that for 12 days prior to the fatal shooting she was under the complete domination, mentally and physically, of Charles Oeffinger, her companion on the night of the tragedy, who was convicted last December of first degree murder and sentenced to death for the killing. It was Oeffinger, she said, who fired the shot after coercing her to accompany him to Hirsch's store. In the 12 days that she and Oeffinger occupied a room together, she testified, she was beaten by him, threatened with death and exposure of her approaching motherhood if she did not stand by him.

Hirsch was shot last November when he resisted attempts of Oeffinger and Miss Dickerson to rob him. Oeffinger was arrested immediately after the shooting but the girl escaped and was captured the following night. Both admitted the hold-up but each accused the other of having fired the fatal shot.

Mr. Lund, whose duty it was as an accountant for the state board of auditors, under the law, to provide information for the public regarding its state elevator and mill, also was state supervisor of grains and grains at the time the mill opened in 1922.

"There was no grain stored in the elevator that was taken in and then shipped out again to market," said Mr. Lund. "That is, no grain was sent to Grand Forks by farmers and stored for a time and then sent to Minneapolis or other market. All grain held on storage tickets was taken up by the mill eventually."

The construction account in the latest audit report shows the cost of the mill and elevator project as $3,044,552.89. Apparently, from the reports, the state has an investment of well over a million dollars in the (Continued on page 5)

RECALLS OLD FIGHT

Long Struggle For Terminal
Elevators Within State
Reflected in Story

The huge elevator storage capacity provided by the state of North Dakota in connection with the state-owned, state-operated flour mill at Grand Forks has been little used in the period of approximately two years it has been in operation, investigation reveals. The experience of the elevator department of the project has been somewhat lost sight of in the public consideration of the financial history of the project, attention having been centered upon the mill.

The mill and elevator project had its inception in demands for the building of terminal elevators in which farmers might store their grain, and the question of terminal elevators was a factor in North Dakota politics for many years.

The elevator department of the state project was not operated as a unit separate from the mill until April 1, 1924, and in the latest accountant's report to the state board of auditors by O. B. Lund, accountant, the elevator unit's operations are covered only for the brief period of three months.

On June 30, 1924, the accountant's report shows, the elevator had in storage for persons or firms but 722.20 bushels of spring wheat, 923.30 bushels of durum and 436.52 bushels of flax and other coarse grains.

There was no grain stored in the elevator for individuals and the grain shipped out again to other markets, prior to April 1,

MRS. CARSON DIES IN WEST

Former Pioneer Resident of City Passes Away

Mrs. Alexander Carson, a former pioneer resident of Bismarck, passed away October 16 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. D. Wood, at the Hotel Bismarck, in Vancouver, British Columbia, according to word received by her sister, Mrs. Mary McLean.

Mrs. Carson was taken suddenly ill in the spring, when her sister Mrs. McLean was called to Vancouver by wife, and remained there for over three weeks. When her sister's condition seemed to be improved she returned to Bismarck, thinking she might recover, but she gradually grew weaker until the end came yesterday morning.

Mrs. Carson and Mr. Carson both lived in Bismarck, and on a farm near the city of Bismarck on what is now known as the E. G. Patterson farm. Many of the old pioneers will remember the Carsons.

Some of the younger set of the early days, when the Carsons lived on the farm, will recall a sleigh ride, composed of young people from Bismarck, who drove down to their farm one fine winter evening, and were obliged to remain till morning, on account of a blizzard coming up suddenly. The time was spent in singing songs, and telling stories.

Mrs. Jane Falconer, Carson, was born in the Province of Ontario, Canada, June First 1842, and was 82 years and three months and 16 days old at the time of her death. Three brothers and four sisters survive. W. A. Falconer, and Mrs. Mary McLean of Bismarck, D. A. Falconer of Lincoln, Township, N. D., Mrs. Robert Macomber, C. J. Stiem, Oregon, Mrs. Thomas Gilbert of Spokane, Washington, Mrs. John White of Vancouver, B. C., Mr. Norman Falconer of Alamosa, California. Mrs. Carson died several years ago. The only member of Mrs. Carson's family now living is Mrs. W. D. Wood of Vancouver, B. C. Mr. and Mrs. Wood who keep the Barron Hotel in Vancouver.

Offer Women, Girls Chance To Learn To Drive

"Want to learn to drive a motor car?"

Not just to steer it, but to learn the whys and wherefores of the operation. The Lahr Motor Sales Company is offering an opportunity to girls and women over 16 years of age to learn to operate a car, with out charge.

Under the plan announced by W. E. Lahr, president of the Lahr Motor Sales Company, free lessons will be given, probably four or five lessons of one hour each being sufficient. The women and girls accepting the opportunity will be shown, before they drive, a chassis and what happens when they shift gears, etc. Care of important parts will be taught and the pupils told how to detect defects when they appear.

The offer is made to all women.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, painful, racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect a low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia, aching muscles, stiff in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature what ever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease". You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

—A— dispense it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick. Mail orders filled, cash or C. O. D. Pope Laboratories, Hallowell, Maine. —Ad—

"Right" Means "Go" To Your Telephone Operator

Trained runners, keenly alert, eager to leap in a spirited dash to the goal, await the crack of the pistol to start them off in the race.

In like manner, your telephone operator, after repeating the number you call, is alert for your acknowledgment before speeding your call through the maze of wire and other equipment to the person you want.

By saying "Right," if your number is repeated correctly, you let her know that she has understood the number. But if your operator repeats the number incorrectly, a wrong number is avoided by saying, "No," and giving her the number again.

The thoughtful cooperation of each telephone user makes the service more valuable to all.

THRESHING IS MUCH DELAYED IN NO. DAKOTA

U. S. Report Says All Threshing Cannot be Completed Before Late in November

The mid-monthly report of the United States Department of Agriculture today, says:

"But little progress has been made in threshing over North Dakota since the first of the month because of the very bountiful precipitation which has fallen intermittently over most of the state. These rains have been most objectionable. They have delayed threshing of the very large grain crop in all counties and retarded the fall work. There is a very large acreage of flax still unharvested, not damaged by frost. Under most favorable conditions, all the threshing cannot be completed until late in November. Fortunately temperatures have remained low, as a consequence only a minor portion of the grain in shock has sprouted. The damage thus far done is chiefly discoloration and consequent loss of grade. Especially in the north and western counties there is a large demand for men, required for threshing and gathering potatoes."

"Because of the unsatisfactory marketing conditions and the difficulties attending gathering of this year's crop of potatoes less than one-fifth as many potatoes have come to market this year to date as went to market during the same period in North Dakota last season, 1923. Thus far little frost damage to potatoes has occurred."

"The condition of livestock of all classes is good and feed abundant. Because of the sudden rise in market price of feeding ewes, the number which will be turned out North Dakota fields for fattening will be greatly below what was earlier anticipated and also below the number so fed during other recent falls."

"Conditions for fall plowing have much improved due to recent rains. Much rye is still being sown. Some early sown rye is now above the ground."

Negroes Are Denied Freedom

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the decision of Judge John C. Pollock of the United States District Court at Leavenworth, Kan., in denying writs of habeas corpus to 41 negro troopers of the 44th United States infantry who were sent to life imprisonment by a general court martial in December, 1917, for their part in a race riot at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, August 23, 1917.

ONLY 4,000,000 PAY

4,000,000 file returns

106,000,000 file no returns

President Coolidge, in a statement to Congress some time ago, revealed statistics that astonished the majority of the people of this country. He said that "of the 110,000,000 people in this country, less than 4,000,000 pay income taxes directly. The remaining 106,000,000 who pay no such direct taxes are given no relief from what they pay indirectly on everything they buy."

Few people realize that only 4,000,000 out of the entire 110,000,000 population pay a direct income tax.

HUGE SLUSH FUND CHARGED

Walsh Raises Republican Total to $10,000,000 to $12,000,000

Chicago, Oct. 18.—By the A. P. Senate investigating committee was told today by Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Senator LaFollette, independent presidential candidate, that leads had been developed indicating that a Republican "slush fund" of $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 is to be raised for use in this campaign.

"Senator LaFollette has informed me that he under-estimated the amount of the 'slush fund,'" Mr. Walsh said. "After a very hasty investigation we think we have leads which we will present to the committee to show that $10,000,000 is not too small an estimate and that the sum will likely run to $12,000,000."

"We will show as we go along," Walsh added, "that three funds are being raised, one by the Republican national committee, one by the bankers which they are taking care of and one by the manufacturers and business men."

CANADA WHEAT MOVES IN U. S.

United States Interests Grab St. Lawrence Tonnage

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The Grain Marketing company, the corporation representing five old line companies merged recently with a view to eventual farmer ownership and control, announced that it had been advised from Winnipeg that practically all ocean tonnage out of Montreal for the rest of the navigation season on the St. Lawrence river has been booked to United States grain. As a result, according to the announcement, the western Canadian grain crop will now have to move through United States Atlantic ports. "The net results of this crisis-cross between American and Canadian grain is that three to four cents a bushel has been saved to American producers as compared with what will have to be paid by such grain as took the southern route, which will not have to be taken by the new western Canadian crop," the announcement said.

Advices from Montreal are to the effect that United States grain already exported from there or on the way there since Aug. 1 amounts to more than 50,000,000 bushels. The Grain Marketing company said that it has been concentrating on Montreal of late because of its lower rates, some of its grain having moved by an all-water route to Montreal and some by water to Georgian Bay ports and thence by rail.

FORD SENDS SHOALS LETTER

Washington, Oct. 18.—A letter from Henry Ford to President Coolidge withdrawing his offer for Muscle Shoals was made public today at the White House.

Mr. Ford wrote that "inasmuch as so much time has already elapsed we are unable to wait and delay what plans we have any longer for action by Congress and I am, consequently, asking that you consider this as withdrawal of said offer."

In reply President Coolidge wrote Mr. Ford that he trusted "should the congress conclude that it is best to restore this property to private ownership you will at that time renew your interest in the project."

Suit Entered by Newspaper Receiver

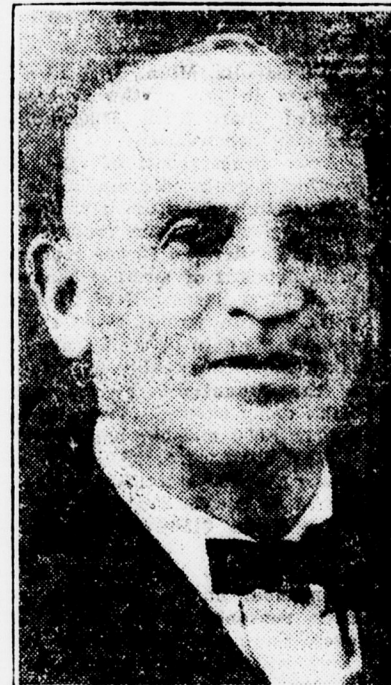

Notices are being served upon 25 citizens, mostly Burleigh county farmers, to appear in the court of Police Magistrate Cashman on October 24 to show why judgment should not be entered on notes given in the ill-fated daily newspaper venture in Bismarck when the Public Opinion was established. The suits being started by George E. Wallace, receiver, are for $100 each, representing stockholders' notes given by farmers who backed the League daily newspaper. The paper found it could not be supported after a comparatively brief existence.

GRAIN CAN BE SAVE, DECLARES EXPERT OF A. C.

Natural Qualities May be Retained, Says Miller of Agricultural College

VENTILATION PLANS

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 18.—Wheat and other grain that has been threshed while tough and wet either because of improper curing or too much moisture from dew and rains, can still be saved and its natural qualities retained, declares R. C. Miller, agricultural engineer at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"A simple ventilator placed in a grain bin successfully stores wet grain," says Mr. Miller. "Any farmer can make and install the ventilator at a cost of material that will not exceed one cent a bushel storage capacity."

The ventilators necessary for 1000 bushel bins can be built and installed by two men in a day, he says. Seed grain that would be ruined if it heats or molds could be placed in a ventilated bin and cured for with the ventilator system and shelled corn that heats when placed in an ordinary bin could be saved by the use of ventilators.

"Farmers that have already threshed their grain and now find that it is heating and moulding could fix a bin with ventilators and transfer the grain to it," Mr. Miller advises. "If they have not yet threshed, the bins could be fixed now and the wet grain placed in them."

Cure Damp Wheat
"It may even be better to cure the damp wheat in the ventilated bin than to leave it in the shock to cure. It may sprout and be ruined in the shock if damp weather keeps up."

The system of ventilation has been found successful. Mr. Miller cites the following test results:
700 bushels of tough wheat direct from the combine having 16 per cent moisture were stored in a bin 13 feet long by 10 feet wide in which ventilators had been placed. From July 12 to September 28 the moisture content was reduced from 15 per cent to 14.3 per cent. Wheat was of normal temperature and natural color.

Another lot of same kind of wheat placed in a bin without ventilators did not keep in condition. These are results of actual experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ordinarily wheat with 15 per cent moisture will heat and become musty in a tight bin such as the average North Dakota farmer has.

Ventilators are placed across the bin and are spaced 3 feet apart. The first tier of ventilators is placed two inches above the floor. The next tier is put 3 feet above this one. A bin 6 to 10 feet deep would have three tiers of ventilators 3 feet apart.

"Any farmer can easily make his own ventilator," says Mr. Miller. "Two pieces of 1x4 set on edge with outer faces 6 inches apart are nailed into position with 6 inch long cleats. These cleats are spaced 12 inches apart on top side and two feet apart on bottom side. The top cleats are mortised into sides to give even top edge. Wire screen is nailed on top side of ventilator.

nalled over the opening in wall on outside. This canvas is allowed to hang down and around the end of ventilator to keep the wheat from running into ventilator.

"Where farmers thresh wet grain this fall a set of these ventilators will soon pay for themselves."

GLENN HUNTER PLAYS HERE IN FINE COMEDY

Famous Comedian Will Appear at the Bismarck Auditorium on October 27

The famous comedy, "Merton of the Movies," has played but a very few months outside of New York City. Only last November it completed its run of sixty weeks at the Cort Theatre there, during which time it won and maintained the position of one of the comedy headlines of the metropolitan stage. And now, Messrs. George C. Taylor and Hugh Ford, the producers and managers of "Merton of the Movies," will bring it to the Auditorium on Monday, October 27.

Mr. Glenn Hunter, who created the title role of the comedy and who played it during the New York run, has just won his position as star of the organization. The name of his character is Merton Gill.
The story deals with the determination of a country store clerk to rise to stardom in the film world. The scenes take the audience into the Hollywood studios, giving an interesting view of the conditions under which photoplays are rehearsed. The comedy romance is richer in satire than even the original Harry Lauder Wilson's story. George S. Kaufman and M. C. Connelly adapted the play from Wilson's story.
Merton Gill has taken a course in a correspondence school for acting. Back in Gashville's general store, in Simsbury, Illinois, he lost his job because he practiced hero scenes with clothing dummies at night in the store. Backed by $270 cash, he finds himself in a Hollywood studio. There he sees Harold Prunmeles, who, he is sure, is his double. Then, too, there is Beulah Baxter, screen star, whom he idolizes. Both pass Merton by, head-high. But the Montana girl, a "cupper," takes an interest in the "hunk." She encourages him, even after his first tryout seems a fizzle. He has a chance to act with the cross-eyed man, but he will not ruin art by playing comedy roles. Without his knowledge he is lured into a comedy role. The picture is a wonderful hit, but Merton is bitterly disappointed that his is not the face of a hero, but that of a low-down comedian. And right at this point begins the delicious love interest between Merton and the Montana girl.

Supporting Mr. Hunter are Jean Ford (who plays the Montana girl), Edward M. Favor, Bert Melville, John Webster, Fanchon Campbell, Maxine Callender, Eugene Ordway, Matthew Smith, Jr., Tom Hadaway, Georgia Prentice, William Adler, Billy Janney, and others. There are more than thirty speaking parts in the comedy, and an elaborate production is required to properly mount the four acts of the comedy which, in all, consists of six scenes.

NOBILITY HAS SMALL INCOME

Berlin, Oct. 18.—The 1st ten years in Germany has deprived many a prince of his income, and sent him out to make a living along with the rest of the world. Not a few of the nobility, particularly among the younger generation, have said they were happier and more contented with life generally since they went to work than they were when they had nothing to do but count their income and look use by the general public. On June 30, 1924, there was stored in the elevator bins and tanks, elevator mill bins, etc. 230,251.27 bushels of wheat owned by the mill as compared to be 722,30 bushels stored for owners other than the mill. The elevator capacity is 2,000,000 bushels.

The statement of the elevator department shows a loss of $18,320.75 from April 1, 1924 to June 30, 1924. The elevator department operating statement for this period, condensed, follows:

For thrills in sports, society or military manoeuvres.
What the republic is to do with the property that once belonged to former Emperor William is still an open question. He possessed large estates in Brandenburg, Pomerania, Posania, Silesia and West Prussia, and other assets, which have been appraised at $40,000,000, all of which he lost when he fled to Holland in 1918. His income today is relatively very modest indeed.

The castle, picture galleries and other valuable collections regarded as the property of the old dynasty were taken over by the state. A number of the princes, however, brought suit to retain their holdings, and have regained title to some of the properties which were confiscated when the republic became a reality.

It has been estimated that the former King of Saxony, Friedrich August, was a loser to the extent of $6,000,000. The Saxon Diet now gives him $40,000 a year.

Other rich noblemen who today are living on greatly reduced incomes are the Grand Duke of Saxony-Weimar, the King of Wuertemberg, the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, and the Prince of Schaumburg-Lippe.

LEITH LIGHT PLANT BURNS

Carlson, N. D., Oct. 18.—The electric light plant in Leith owned and operated by Dan Bierwag was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night about 1:30. Mr. Bierwag had banked the fire in the fire box of the steam engine when he left for home about 12 o'clock and it is thought the fire started from the engine room. The building and equipment was partially covered by insurance.

Through heroic efforts on the part of Leith citizens the fire was kept from spreading to other buildings to the east of the light plant, the wind blowing from the west made it a hard fight for them. It was fortunate that the air was damp. Had the fire spread east it would have been disastrous to the business portion of the town.

The alarm was given in Carlson and the auto chemical fire extinguisher accompanied by a number of Carlson citizens went over to assist in extinguishing the fire.

The business men of Leith got busy Monday and connected up a dynamo that will be sufficient to light the business houses.

CONSERVATION OF WILD GAME IN N. D. URGED

Federal Game Warden, in State on Inspection Trip.
Cites Necessity

NOW FINE GAME STATE

North Dakota is now the best state in the union for grouse hunting and one of the best for duck shooting, but unless sportsmen and officials take steps to conserve the game, North Dakota's fine hunting ground will go the way of other states.

George A. Lawver, chief United States Game Warden, Washington, D. C., in the state on an inspection trip, declared here.

"Game can only be conserved by sportsmen getting solid back of the state game officials and cooperating in the enforcement of laws and in bringing about their proper observance, and in taking care of game through improvement in breeding, and providing feeding and resting places," said Mr. Lawver.

"I am sure you people in North Dakota do not want to make the mistake that eastern states have made when they killed the game out and now are spending millions of dollars to bring it back. The time to conserve game is when you have it."

"Unless you do that, it will disappear, you won't know just how."

Mr. Lawver urged sportsmen to observe the bag limit and hours of shooting. He declared there was evidence of flagrant violation of the law forbidding shooting after sunset. Ducks have been driven to feeding at night, and if there is shooting after sundown they will be kept on the wing all the time and will be driven away, he said.

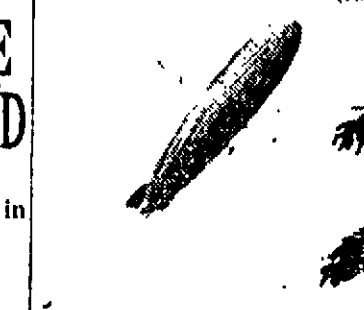

The United States government will cooperate in enforcing the law in North Dakota and in conserving game, he said. U. S. deputy game wardens have become active in the state, entering the migratory bird law and he hopes to have several U. S. game wardens placed in the state in addition to the deputies.

Mr. Lawver advocates a bill pending in Congress, providing a $1 hunters' license. Half of this sum, he said, could be used to help maintain marsh feeding grounds over the United States. In North Dakota, he said, funds could be used to increase the food supply at lakes and marshes, not only for ducks but for fish.

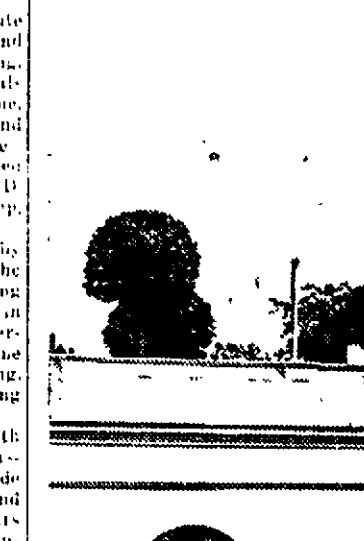

Mr. Lawver is making a week's trip in the state with J. V. Kelsey, U. S. Game Warden, Watertown, S. D., and E. J. Jada of Canton, state fish and game commissioner.

FARM PARLEY TO BE CALLED

Some Urge Coolidge to Delay
His Plan of Aid

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Coolidge expects to call in the near future a conference on agriculture, which will be the first step in his proposed investigation of farming conditions by a special commission.

The personnel of the commission also will be named by the President at an early date. He wishes to confer with several farm leaders before taking definite action on the appointments and these men will be seen next week, it is understood.

Some farm leaders who have already conferred with the President have advised that organization of the commission and the conference be delayed until after the election lest the work become involved in politics.

CHARGE ARSON TO KU KLUX

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Charges of incendiarism against the K. K. K. have been made by the Rev. Carl Hammer, pastor, and the 16 trustees of the Greater Bethel African Methodist church, which was swept by fire last night to the estimated extent of $100,000 damages.

The pastor said numerous threatening letters signed "K. K. K." had been received by him and certain members. The edifice, known as "the largest negro church in America" contained sleeping quarters for 100 persons who were driven to the streets by the flames.

ANOTHER BANK IS REOPENED

The Nortonville State Bank of Nortonville, LaMoine county, which went on special deposit December 1 last, has reopened for business, it was announced today by Gilbert Semington, state bank examiner. The institution had capital stock of $100,000, surplus of $7,000 and deposits of $58,000 when it was closed due to lack of sufficient reserve. J. R. Hollingsworth is president.

LEGION WOULD GET OUT VOTE

Commander Carlson Urges
All to Get Busy on Plan

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 18.—North Dakota's American Legion department, committed to the program of assisting in getting out a full vote in the forthcoming election, was brought into active participation in the movement today by A. B. Carlson, of Minot, department commander.

Quoting their resolutions adopted by the American Legion national convention at its recent meeting in St. Paul, Commander Carlson called on all Legionnaires in North Dakota to under no circumstances fail to exercise their voting rights.

Along with the large number of other organizations in North Dakota, to the W. A. T. U., the Federation of Women's clubs, the Grand Lodge of Masons, the Kiwanis clubs, the League of Women voters, the American Legion declares it the duty of every citizen to vote.

Says Commander Carlson in his appeal to the Legionnaires: "Every Legionnaire can and should vote. That is not his privilege; it is his duty, a real obligation. It is to perform his patriotic duties for his country as he did in war. At the last presidential election, 25,000,000 citizens cast their ballot. At the same time 27,000,000 citizens properly qualified to do so failed and slept on their rights."

"The American Legion believes that it is not only the right of every citizen to vote, but that it is his important duty to do so. Citizenship carries with it a sense of obligation to the republic. No person can be a good citizen who fails to interest himself in the questions of the day and who does not make a choice in the management of the government's affairs."

New Catholic Paper Proposed

Establishment of a third English weekly newspaper in Dickinson is now being considered. The Nord Dakota Herald, German weekly religious newspaper published here, in its last issue announces that such a movement was being sponsored by the Catholic societies of North Dakota.

John Nadolski, editor of the Herald, said this week that although plans concerning the new venture were as yet indefinite, it is probable that the new weekly will be launched about January 1, 1925. It will be published from the Herald plant. If the venture proves a success the plant will be greatly enlarged and new machinery and equipment purchased.

While the purpose of the new publication will be to give Catholic readers of the state and particularly the Missouri Slope a religious weekly that can be generally read, several columns each week will be devoted to local news and advertising.

A name for the proposed paper has not yet been chosen, Mr. Nadolski said.

LIFE AND HEALTH

One man said, "The Lord made us all, and I don't believe it is necessary for such a person as a chiropractor to fool around my backbone."

There is good logic in part of what he said. There is no question but what the Creator does His work right, but that does not mean that the work of His hands will not get out of order. You buy good watch, but in time it needs repairs. Man runs faster than a watch. The way we live, it is a wonder we last as well as we do. If you have good health, you are to be envied; but don't be so self-centered as to say that scientific discoveries have no place in the economy of life.

Some people even believe that the discoveries of science are after all but the thoughts of the Creator. Be that as it may, we know that people can find life and health through Chiropractic. Verbal Adjustments scientifically applied, and Spinal Analysis is Free.

Here's What Minneapolis Has To Say About This Comedy:
"In 'Merton of the Movies' which opened last night we have what in every probability will be the most amusing comedy housed by the Metropolitan during the season." "Merton of the Movies" is corking entertainment and should be included among the "musts" of every theatre-goer's obligations to visit the theatre."—William J. McNally in the Minneapolis Tribune, Oct. 13, 1924.
"Merton of the Movies" turns on the Klieg lights on the film-flam of the films. The Metropolitan offers as amusing an evening as you can find in the theatre. Not to be missed." "Merton of the Movies" is good fun, and something more. It deserves a capitol week at the Metropolitan."—Carlton Miles in the Minneapolis Journal, Oct. 13, 1924.

GRAIN CAN BE SAVE, DECLARES EXPERT OF A. C.

Natural Qualities May Be Retained, Says Miller of Agricultural College

VENTILATION PLANS

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 18.—Wheat and other grain that has been threshed while tough and wet either because of improper curing or too much moisture from dew and rains, can still be saved and its natural qualities retained, declares R. C. Miller, agricultural engineer at the North Dakota Agricultural college.

"A simple ventilator placed in a grain bin successfully stores wet grain," says Mr. Miller. "Any farmer can make and install the ventilator at a cost of material that will not exceed one cent a bushel storage capacity."

The ventilators necessary for 1000 bushel bins can be built and installed by two men in a day, he says. Seed grain that would be ruined if it heats or molds could be placed in a ventilated bin and cared for with the ventilator system and shell corn that heats when placed in an ordinary bin could be saved by the use of ventilators.

"Farmers that have already threshed their grain and now find that it is heating and moulding could fix a bin with ventilators and transfer the grain to it," Mr. Miller advises. "If they have not yet threshed, the bins could be fixed now and the wet grain placed in them."

Cure Damp Wheat
"It may even be better to cure the damp wheat in the ventilator bin than to leave it in the shock to cure. It may sprout and be ruined in the shock if damp weather keeps up."

The system of ventilation has been found successful. Mr. Miller cites the following test results.

700 bushels of tough wheat direct from the combine having 16 per cent moisture were stored in a bin 13 feet long by 10 feet wide in which ventilators had been placed. From July 12 to September 28 the moisture content was reduced from 15 per cent to 14.3 per cent. Wheat was of normal temperature and natural color.

Another lot of same kind of wheat placed in a bin without ventilators did not keep in condition. These are results of actual experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ordinarily wheat with 15 per cent moisture will heat and become musty in a tight bin such as the average North Dakota farmer has.

Ventilators are placed across the bin and are spaced 3 feet apart. The first tier of ventilators is placed two inches above the floor. The next tier is put 3 feet above this one. A bin 6 to 10 feet deep would have three tiers of ventilators 3 feet apart.

"Any farmer can easily make his own ventilator," says Mr. Miller. "Two pieces of 1x4 set on edge with outer faces 6 inches apart are nailed into position with 6 inch long cleats. These cleats are spaced 12 inches apart on top side and two feet apart on bottom side. The top cleats are mortised into sides to give even top edge. Wire screen is nailed on top side of ventilator."

Fasten Screen
"The screen should be fastened to frame with screen mousing. The bottom side of ventilator is left open. A rapid and easy method of fastening the screen is to place four 6-inch wide ventilators side by side with top side up. Twenty-four inch wide screen can then be tacked over all four and fastened securely to each. The screen between ventilators can then be cut with a knife."

Holes the size of flue openings are cut into the sides of bin. One-inch by two-inch cleats are nailed around the hole in the inside along bottom and sides to hold the ventilator in place. The ventilator can be removed by lifting it up. Flues near an outside wooden wall are usually placed in about two and a half feet. The wall will dry out about a foot of grain and the flues one and one-half feet to each side. Flues in different tiers could be staggered.

Estimated Cost
"The following is an estimate of cost for ventilators for a 1000 bushel bin. Assume the bin 10 feet wide, 9 feet high, and 13 feet long. This size bin would require three tiers of ventilators. This would require the following materials:

20 pieces 1x10 pine 67 bd. feet at 5c $3.35
132 lineal feet 1x2 2x2d. feet at 5c 1.10
120 lineal feet 1x1 moulding 10 bd. feet at 5c50
62 sq. ft. galvanized wire screen 24-inches wide at 6c 3.12
5 lbs. 8d nails, 3 lbs. 6d nails at 6c per pound48

Total cost of material 8.55
"This is a cost of less than one cent a bushel for material. The labor would be about one day's work for a good woman to make and install. These ventilators would be good for a number of years. The outside opening should have a screen over it."

"Any opening exposed to weather should also have a board or piece of tin protection to keep out rain. Canvas or burlap strips should be nailed over the opening in wall on outside. This canvas is allowed to hang down and around the end of ventilators to keep the wheat from running into ventilator.

"Where farmers thresh wet grain this fall a set of these ventilators will soon pay for themselves."

GLENN HUNTER PLAYS HERE IN FINE COMEDY

Famous Comedian Will Appear at the Bismarck Auditorium on October 27

The famous comedy, "Merton of the Movies," has played but a very few months outside of New York City. Only last November it completed its run of sixty weeks at the Cort Theatre there, during which time it won and maintained the position of one of the comedy headliners of the metropolitan stage. And now Messrs. C. Taylor and Hugh Ford, the producers and managers of "Merton of the Movies," will bring it to the Auditorium on Monday, October 27.

Mr. Glenn Hunter, who created the title role of the comedy and who played it during the New York run, has just won his position as star of the organization. The name of his character is Merton Gill.

The story deals with the determination of a country store clerk to rise to stardom in the film world. The scene takes the audience into the Hollywood studios, giving an interesting view of the conditions under which photoplays are screened. The comedy romance is richer in satire than even the original Harry Leon Wilson's story. George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly adapted the play from Wilson's story.

Merton Gill has taken a course in a correspondence school for acting. Back in Gashville's general store, in Simsbury, Illinois, he lost his job because he practiced her scenes with clothing dummies at night in the store. Backed by $250 cash, he finds himself in a Hollywood studio. There he meets Harold Parmore, who, he is sure, is his double. Then, there is Beulah Baxter, screen star, whom he idolizes. Both pass Merton by, heads high. But the Montana Girl, a super, takes an interest in the "boob." She encourages him, even after his first tryout seems a fizzle. He has a chance to act when the cross-eyed man, but he will not ruin art by playing comedy roles. Without his knowledge he is lured into a comedy role. The picture is a wonderful hit, but Merton is bitterly disappointed that his is not the face of a hero, but that of a low-down comedian. And right at this point begins the delicious love interest between Merton and the Montana Girl.

Supporting Mr. Hunter are Jean Ford (who plays the Montana Girl), Edward M. Favor, Bert Melville, John Webster, Fanchon Campbell, Romaine Callender, Eugene Ordway, Matthew Smith, Jr., Tom Hadaway, Georgia Prentice, William Adler, Billy Janney, and others. There are more than thirty speaking parts in the comedy, and an elaborate production is required to properly mount the four acts of the comedy which, in all, consists of six scenes.

NOBILITY HAS SMALL INCOME
Berlin, Oct. 18.—The last ten years in Germany has deprived many a prince of his income, and sent him out to make a living along with the rest of the world. Not a few of the nobility, particularly among the younger generation, have said they were happier and more contented with life generally since they went to work than they were when they had nothing to do but count their income and look use by the general public. On June 30, 1924, there was stored in the elevator bins and tanks, elevator mill bins, etc. 230,251.27 bushels of wheat owned by the mill as compared to be 722.30 bushels stored for owners other than the mill. LEITH LIGHT PLANT BURNS

Carson, N. D., Oct. 18.—The electric light plant in Leith owned and operated by Dan Bierwag was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night about 1:30. Mr. Bierwag had banked the fire in the fire box of the steam engine when he left for home about 12 o'clock and it is thought the fire started from the engine room. The building and equipment was partially covered by insurance.

Through heroic efforts on the part of Leith citizens the fire was kept from spreading to other buildings to the east of the light plant, the wind blowing from the west made it a hard fight for them. It was fortunate that the air was damp. Had the fire spread east it would have been disastrous to the business portion of the town.

The alarm was given in Carson and the auto chemical fire extinguisher accompanied by a number of Carson citizens went over to assist in extinguishing the fire.

The business men of Leith got busy Monday and connected up a dynamo that will be sufficient to light the business houses.

MANY HEAR MR. MacMANUS

Seamus MacManus, noted Irish lecturer and entertainer, appeared last night in St. Mary's Auditorium, and was greeted by a large number of Bismarck people. Mr. MacManus spoke largely in a humorous vein, relating many anecdotes of Ireland and Irish people. Born in Ireland, he is noted as a student of Irish questions and a writer. Mr. MacManus was brought to Bismarck by the Knights of Columbus.

CONSERVATION OF WILD GAME IN N. D. URGED

Federal Game Warden, in State on Inspection Trip, Cites Necessity

NOW FINE GAME STATE

North Dakota is now the best state in the union for grouse hunting and one of the best for duck shooting, but unless sportsmen and officials take steps to conserve the game, North Dakota's fine hunting ground will go to the way of other states, George A. Lawver, chief United States Game Warden, Washington, D. C., in the state on an inspection trip, declared here.

"Game can only be conserved by sportsmen getting solidly back of the state game officials and cooperating in the enforcement of laws and in bringing about their proper observance, and in taking care of game through improvement in breeding, and providing feeding and resting places," said Mr. Lawver.

"I am sure you people in North Dakota do not want to make the mistake that eastern states have made when they killed the game out and now are spending millions of dollars to bring it back. The time to conserve game is when you have it."

"Unless you do that, it will disappear—you won't know just how." Mr. Lawver urged sportsmen to observe the bag limit and hours of shooting. He declared there was evidence of flagrant violation of the law forbidding shooting after sunset. Ducks have been driven to feeding at night, and if there is shooting after sundown they will be driven away, he said.

The United States government will cooperate in enforcing the law in North Dakota, and in conserving game, he said. U. S. deputy game wardens have become active in the state, enforcing the migratory bird law, and he hopes to have several U. S. game wardens placed in the state in addition to the deputies.

Mr. Lawver advocates a bill pending in Congress, providing a bill hunter's license. Half of this, he said, would be used to help maintain marsh feeding grounds over the United States. In North Dakota, he said, funds could be used to increase the food supply at lakes and marshes, not only for ducks but for fish.

Mr. Lawver is making a week's trip in the state with J. V. Kelley, U. S. Game Warden, Watertown, S. D., and E. T. Judd of Canon, state fish and game commissioner.

CHARGE ARSON TO KU KLUX

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Charges of incendiaryism against the K. K. K. have been made by the Rev. Carl Hanner, pastor, and the 16 trustees of the Greater Bethel African Methodist church, which was swept by fire last night to the estimated extent of $100,000 damages.

The pastor said numerous threatening letters signed "K. K. K." had been received by him and certain members. The edifice, known as "the largest negro church in America," contained sleeping quarters for 100 persons who were driven to the streets by the flames.

ANOTHER BANK IS REOPENED

The Nortonville State Bank of Nortonville, LaMoure county, which went on special deposit December 4 last, has reopened for business, it was announced today by Gilbert Semington, state bank examiner. The institution had capital stock of $10,000, surplus of $7,000 and deposits of $58,000 when it was closed due to lack of sufficient reserve. J. R. Hollingsworth is president.

Some Urge Coolidge to Delay His Plan of Aid

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Coolidge expects to call in the near future a conference on agriculture which will be the first step in his proposed investigation of farming conditions by a special commission. The personnel of the commission also will be named by the President at an early date. He wishes to confer with several farm leaders before taking definite action on the appointments and these men will be seen next week, it is understood.

Some farm leaders who have already conferred with the President have advised that organization of the commission and the conference be delayed until after the election lest the work become involved in politics.

LEGION WOULD

Commander Carlson Urges All to Get Busy on Plan

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 18.—North Dakota's American Legion department, committed to the program of assisting in getting out a full vote in the forthcoming election, was brought into active participation in the movement today by A. B. Carlson of Minot, department commander.

Quoting from resolutions adopted by the American Legion national convention at its recent meeting in St. Paul, Commander Carlson calls on all Legionnaires in North Dakota to under no circumstances fail to exercise their voting rights.

Along with the large number of other organizations in North Dakota, the W. C. T. U., the Federation of Women's clubs, the grand lodge of Masons, the Kiwanis clubs, the League of Women voters, the American Legion declares its duty of every citizen to vote.

Says Commander Carlson in his appeal to the Legionnaires: "Every Legionnaire can and should vote. That is not his privilege; it is his duty, a real obligation if he is to perform his peace-time duties for his country as he did in war. At the last presidential election 26,000,000 citizens cast their ballot. At the same time 27,000,000 citizens properly qualified to do so failed and slept on their rights."

"The American Legion believes that it is not only the right of every citizen to vote, but that it is his imperative duty to do so. "Citizenship carries with it a sense of obligation to the republic. No person can be a good citizen who fails to interest himself in the questions of the day and who does not make a choice in the management of the government's affairs."

LEGION WOULD GET OUT VOTE

Commander Carlson Urges All to Get Busy on Plan

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 18.—North Dakota's American Legion department, committed to the program of assisting in getting out a full vote in the forthcoming election, was brought into active participation in the movement today by A. B. Carlson of Minot, department commander.

Quoting from resolutions adopted by the American Legion national convention at its recent meeting in St. Paul, Commander Carlson calls on all Legionnaires in North Dakota to under no circumstances fail to exercise their voting rights.

Along with the large number of other organizations in North Dakota, the W. C. T. U., the Federation of Women's clubs, the grand lodge of Masons, the Kiwanis clubs, the League of Women voters, the American Legion declares its duty of every citizen to vote.

Says Commander Carlson in his appeal to the Legionnaires: "Every Legionnaire can and should vote. That is not his privilege; it is his duty, a real obligation if he is to perform his peace-time duties for his country as he did in war. At the last presidential election 26,000,000 citizens cast their ballot. At the same time 27,000,000 citizens properly qualified to do so failed and slept on their rights."

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

NORTH DAKOTA'S WHITE ELEPHANT
Each additional financial report of the North Dakota mill and elevator at Grand Forks emphasizes the failure of the project and the futility of continuing its operation until the state has sunk millions of dollars in it. After a year and a half of operation, the mill loses over $300,000 in one six-months period in a vain attempt to manufacture and sell flour at a profit. The total loss of $635,000, in two years, is an indication of how great a burden on the taxpayers this institution may become.

It is admitted that the mill has not lowered the cost of flour in North Dakota. Indeed, the accountant complains that North Dakota people pay a higher price for state mill flour than do people outside the state. The mill management, faced by the task of breaking into markets against strong competitors who have built up their mills from small beginnings, has offered the fine flour it makes at low prices. After two years it has not succeeded in capturing markets to an extent where it can show a profit.

The state also built a great elevator at Grand Forks, to provide a place where farmers might store their grain. It has been little used. The great, white grain tanks have been empty of farmers' grain, and have been used only partly to store grain needed by the mill.
Those who fought consistently against the state mill and elevator project are entitled to declare that they were not friends of "Big Business" in so doing, but that they were friends of the taxpayers of the state.

THE WIENER ROAST
That strange flickering light that you see in the woods is neither ghostly nor dangerous. The young folks are gathering for a wiener roast, that is all.
Approach, you members of the older generation, but don't make too much noise, or you may break the charm. The high gay laughter of boys and girls in their teens—could anything be lovelier, these Indian Summer nights?
There is a great deal of laughter, some shyness, and an immense consumption of sausages and hot coffee. The boys of this day know how to make a fire, too. They are graduate Boy Scouts, most of them, and not ashamed to exhibit their craft before a feminine audience.

One of the best things about a wiener roast is that the fire doesn't give much light. So after appetites have been appeased, the youngsters sit about, and stroll about in the semi-darkness, and into their healthy, happy minds and souls come the same thoughts and impulses that have moved young folk in all the countries.

It is a perfect picture—the drifting smoke, the wavering fire, the couples quietly pairing off, the occasional peal of laughter, the crescent harvest moon overhead. Well, well, Boys and girls! The same old story!

HARVEST HOME DAYS
To a few the approach of the fall season is a signal for indulgence in thoughts sad and melancholy. Summer with its sunshine and vacation has passed and the long winter is just ahead. There is another group, however—and a very large one—which is able to see in the autumn haze and changing leaves much that is wholesome and uplifting.

In scores of communities throughout the land these are the days of garnering in the fruits of the summer's toil. Ministers take advantage of the occasion for harvest home services. The young and buoyant look forward to Hallowe'en, while father and mother perhaps dwell upon the approach of Thanksgiving, when sons, daughters and grandchildren will again sit about the old homestead's hospitable board, reveling alike in good food and fond memory.

City folk are far from unappreciative of vari-hued autumn but it is perhaps in the country and typical county seat towns that the season has its greatest meaning. Throughout New England and the Middle states the early fall heralds the coming of the county fair and the firemen's carnival, to say nothing of football and the opening of the hunting season.

It is in the fall that thoughts turn from the lighter summer pleasures to the more serious pursuits. Schools reopen and new interest is taken in church work, while cooler evenings and cozy firesides conspire with our favorite authors to renew the reading routine we so hastily dropped when warm sunshine, the spading fork and the lawn mower beckoned to us last spring.

SPEED RECORD
A mile in 23 seconds—Malcolm Campbell makes it in England with his auto, a 12-cylinder Sunbeam.

Ten years ago such speed would have astounded the world. No one pays much attention to it now, for airplanes are far faster. The importance of anything is entirely by contrast, or relativity. The goal of brain training should be to develop a sense of values for determining the importance of things and situations in relation to others. Values are relative.

USEFUL GIFTS
Here is one of the rarest combinations—philanthropy and old-fashioned horse sense.
Dr. Becker, wealthy New York optician, will furnish eyeglasses free of charge to every school child in his city who needs but cannot afford them. He figures it will cost him $20,000. It will do more real good than 20 millions spent for economic investigation and similar bromidic "charity work."

SPECULATING ON MARS
All indications point to existence of animal and vegetable life on Mars, says Prof. Phillip Fox of Northwestern University.

To make them complete, those mansions in the sky will have to have hangars.

A DREAM COLLEGE

(Columbus, Ohio, State Journal)
The plan for a college to be conducted by Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst, according to his own advanced ideas, has admittedly not yet proceeded beyond a visionary state. Even if such an institution is established it is doubtful if it will succeed in realizing the ideals of Dr. Meiklejohn, admirable as these are.

In his address on "The College of Tomorrow," Dr. Meiklejohn has outlined the college of his Utopia. The basis of it will be freedom of thought. In place of professors lecturing to students, "stuffing" them with chestnuts, as President Lowell has characterized the personal system, students will be taught to such a source of knowledge and thence to form their own opinions. It is a fine ideal, although not radically new. Many great teachers in colleges long existent have spent their lives endeavoring to teach students to do that identical thing, and occasionally they succeeded.

The danger is that even in the free, dream college, unshackled by trustees, some particular phase of thought may be mistaken for free thought, and imposed upon the student as tyrannically as ideas are now supposed to be foisted upon them. Research that is wholly free and untrammelled by these needs a rare combination of professor and student such as is seldom found in an undergraduate.

However, Dr. Meiklejohn's plan or any other that aims to encourage independent thought is distinctly worth trying.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I am so very late getting around to all the babies," said the Sand Man, "that if you don't help me, Twins, it will be morning before I get through."

"Why, of course, we'll help you, Mister Sand Man," said Nancy. "We still have our magic shoes and we can slip in at doors and windows like We Willie Winkie."

As she spoke she saw a cloak lying on the ground and picked it up. Instantly she faded from view. No one could see her any more than I can see China at this minute.

"Nancy, where are you?" cried Nick. "I'm right here," said Nancy's voice. "What's wrong with you? Have you gone blind?"

"I don't know, but I can't see you," said Nick. "I know what it is. It's the invisible cloak that Twee-anose dropped from the moon!"

"Oh, oh!" cried Nancy. "It's the very thing for tonight, Nick! Each of us will take a piece and when we go to drop the sand into the babies' eyes, they can't see us."

"If you don't mind, I'll have a piece myself," said the Sand Man. "I'm pretty smart about not being seen, but when my hay-fever comes on and I have to sneeze, I have a dreadful time not being discovered."

"Of course," said Nancy. So she divided the cloak into three pieces, she and Nick each taking a piece with a pocket.

Then the Sand Man filled the pockets with magic sleepy sand out of his sack and everything was ready.

The moon was just over the top of the meeting-house steeple when the three workers started off over the house tops to put the babies to sleep.

By the time the moon was over the weather-cock on the barn, the whole world was quiet.

"Achoo!" went the Sand Man. "I do believe my hay-fever is coming back."

"Where are you?" cried Nancy. "I can't see anybody."

"Where are you, yourself?" the Sand Man wanted to know.

"Why, we still have on the pieces of the invisible cloak!" laughed Nancy. "We must take them off."

So they did and there they were, all three of them!

"We'll get the invisible cloak fixed and give it to the Sand Man," said Nancy. "It will keep him from catching cold, too."

"Fine!" cried Nick. "We'll go to the Green Wizard at once."

So they went to the tree where the Green Wizard lived and woke him up with a loud sleep.

"Certainly, I'll fix it," said the kind old fellow. "Anything to oblige a friend."

So he said:
"One-ery, two-ery, three-ery, four."

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRECOTT TO RUTH BURKE, CONTINUED

Convulsively I threw my arms around John's neck, as there came to me the thought of that certain day when there must be separation between us.

"Every day I shall pray," I said, "that death shall take me first."

"Leslie, Leslie, you must not give way like this, dear, you will make yourself sick."

"But it is so cruel to separate those two people. I cannot, even now when we have been such a short time together, contemplate a life without you. Think how much more tragic it is for mother, of whose life I had become an integral part."

John drew me closer in a way which told me that he, too, could not think of life without me. It was a moment, I think, when all false pride left both of us—a moment in which we knew how dependent we were upon each other.

"What, then, will it mean to us in the future, dear?" I asked, "when you have grown more necessary to me than now? I could not bear it—I know I could not."

"Yes, yes, you could, my girl, for you can bear what all widows of the world before you have borne. But you must not think of that now, dear heart. We have years and years together, and we must plan the good times possible, and we must bring that dear mother of yours into them as far as she will come, and we must love to the utmost and live all there is to live in every 24 hours, so that when the time comes when the hours can no more be counted together, we can say to death: 'The joy I have had, you cannot take from me.'"

"Leslie, dear, let's have no more misunderstandings."

Gently I put my hand over his mouth. I did not want him to abuse himself. I wanted all our quarrels and bickerings to be put out of our lives and the grave closed and sealed.

I wonder if some day there will come a time when I will remember this conversation? I guess I am too greedy of happiness, too wishful of joy. That is the reason I am afraid of what time will bring to me.

I presume I want John to be a superhero—and I am far from being a superhero.

I was brought out of my sad reverie by John's saying:

"Dearest, I hate to leave you, but we must telegraph to Alice and Karl." By the way, he repeated Karl's name I knew that as far as he was concerned, all was to be a sealed book in the future.

"I am also going to telegraph to Sydney Carton, if you don't mind. We've always been such great friends, and I, too, feel the need of someone to counsel with just at this time."

"Your father, Leslie, has placed a great responsibility upon me, and he has asked me to share it with no one, not even Karl."

"He has asked you to take charge of the business?" I asked quickly.

"Yes, dear."

Before he could tell me more, he was called away.

You can see, dear, this is going to make a great change in all our lives. I will write you some more when it is all over.

Lovingly,
LESLIE.

WHY THE CROWD GATHERED

By Albert Apple

The Woolworth Building houses 15,000 people—the population of quite an impressive town. This gigantic tower is a monument to the peculiar phenomenon that has congested people into cities much in the swarming spirit of bees. Man is fundamentally an individual.

He began that way. Time hasn't changed him, on the average, except in his sociological day-dreams.

Men congregated together, formed communities, primarily for mutual protection against enemy beasts and enemy tribesmen.

Men congregated perpetuated itself. Men found it best to be near each other for exchange of individual products. This tendency increased with specialization—which is the correct word for what is usually improperly called our "civilization." Genuine civilization is spiritual, not material.

There's talk of Chicago eventually being the world's largest city, stretching out to include Milwaukee, with a total of 50 millions population.

A turn of the tide—an exodus back to nature—is looming as a possible result of airplanes. People will be able to live far out and fly hundreds of miles to work in cities reduced to collections of factories, shops and theaters.

Radio will help a lot in breaking up the big cities. Sociologists already notice that radio is "diminishing crowds." H. Addington Bruce, psychologist, puts it this way:

"Through the wizardry of radio, recreations are brought into the home and the best of music, lectures, public addresses and sports may be enjoyed without the discomforts of crowds and crowding in public places."

Radio entertainment as we have it now is, of course, crude and infantile compared with its destined future. Radio movies will come. So will television, by which you'll sit in your home and on a small screen or in a lens see such events as airplane flights, presidential inaugurations, scientific wonders, travel tours, sports and other events that formerly have necessitated travel.

Man will not become a hermit.

But his swarming in crowds already has begun to wane as a result of auto, radio and airplane. Crowds usually have an undercurrent of mob insanity, contagious to the individual brain and conducive to mental and nervous disorders.

New York, Oct. 18.—He stood at the highest point in an upstate county.

Trees and bushes had been touched with gold and crimson. Green pastures sparkled in the sun. Before him seven ranges of hills rolled away, one over the other, into infinity.

He stood there, silent, enraptured, for quite a long moment and then turned to his companion.

"Is that nature?" he asked.

"Is what nature?"

"All that," he answered, and made a vague gesture toward the vista before him.

"That do you mean, is what nature?"

"I mean—do things just grow that way? Or have the people who live here fixed up things like that?"

Now, if all those questions had been asked facetiously there would have been little point to recording them here.

But they were asked seriously. It was the first time that the inquisitive man had ever seen trees and other natural things growing any place except in the parks of New York City.

This man is thirty. He holds a responsible position in one of New York's banking institutions. He has had a fair education. His knowledge in some fields is unlimited.

Yet he didn't know a pine from an oak, wheat from timothy, a heron from a rooster. He thought that all the lakes in the hills were artificial reservoirs dammed up by the country hotel-keepers to create summer resorts.

There is no exaggeration in any of this.

There may not be many more inhabitants of New York City so cosmically ignorant of the wonders of life as this man, but there are thousands here who know less of natural things than a country boy of six.

And those thousands think that beyond the Hudson river lies a vast territory inhabited by primitive people, a territory without which the United States could very well get along.

FABLES ON HEALTH

GIVE YOUR FEET A CHANCE

Give your feet a chance and they'll carry you a long way!

That was what Mr. Jones' physical director used to say in advising foot exercises.

Many persons think of exercising pretty nearly all the rest of the body but neglect the feet. This is particularly applicable to women.

Now so common a thing as toeing in or toeing out affects the muscles of the feet and the trunk muscles as well. And to correct the general posture it is necessary to begin from the bottom and work upward.

The first lesson to learn is: Toe straight ahead!

Then, to give the feet exercise, try this one in your daily dozen:

When you get out of bed put your feet squarely on the floor. Then bend the feet up, wiggling the feet. Do this as many times as you comfortably can. Try walking around the room on your heels. Reverse the first exercise by lifting the heel up and keeping the ball of the foot down.

Do the citizens think that is any encouragement for a leader or for the boys and girls that are trying to make something that Bismarck can be proud of? I should say not. Come on Bismarck, Wake up. Show that we appreciate their efforts and at the next concert fill the house so they have to hang the S. R. O. sign out. You can do it if you only will and make this Band the talk of the west. Then hear people say, "Just look at the Kid Band Bismarck has, it is one of the most valuable assets and advertisements that any city can have."

Emmett Griffin Sings in Recital

Mrs. Herman Scheffer presented Emmett Griffin in recital last evening at her home. Mr. Griffin showed himself to be a tenor of excellent quality, with fine diction, and pleased a group of friends who gathered to hear him. A variety of songs, memorized, comprised the group. His interpretation of "Within a Garden" was especially good, as was his rendition of "Way Down South," "Mammy's Song," "O Love, Love," "Requiem," and "Requiem." Delightful refreshments were served at the close of the program. Sweet Peas and Roses were used as the decorations.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Pictureque Sleeves

The pictureque sleeves are the most noticeable feature of the brown moire frock. They are of pleated chiffon a few shades lighter than the dress. The chiffon is also introduced in the under panel and the scarf that is a part of the outfit. Two very large buttons of brown composition serve as a trimming and also a fastening. This is a very charming outfit for afternoon tea or the matinee.

CAPITOL

Albert Regell, director of "The Fighting Sap," starring Fred Thompson, coming to the Capitol Theatre tonight, has more outdoor Western to his credit than any other director. Not only does he know the habits, the customs and the ways of the plains, but can ride, shoot or rope with any of the cowboys in the outfit. Under the guiding hand of Fred Burns, former world-champion roper, he learned to twirl the rope. Under Yakima Jim he learned to handle the pistol, and to ride with Horse Creek Johnston. All three of these men appear in "The Fighting Sap."

REV. HIGHT AND MRS. SWEETIN ARE ARRAIGNED

Mount Vernon, Ill., Oct. 18.—The courtroom was crowded into yesterday when Lawrence M. Hight, form-

Sweeten, confessed poisoners of their mother in a plot to marry, were arraigned before Circuit Judge J. C. Keith under two joint murder indictments returned by the Jefferson county grand jury. Many women were in the room.

Attorneys for Hight and Mrs. Sweeten asked permission to file a motion to quash the indictment. The defendants did not enter pleas. Mrs. Sweeten was brought from the jail at Salem for the arraignment, while Hight was brought from the county jail here.

Emmett Griffin Sings in Recital

Mrs. Herman Scheffer presented Emmett Griffin in recital last evening at her home. Mr. Griffin showed himself to be a tenor of excellent quality, with fine diction, and pleased a group of friends who gathered to hear him. A variety of songs, memorized, comprised the group. His interpretation of "With-in a Garden" was especially good, as was his rendition of "Way Down South," "Mammy's Song," "O Lovely Night," and "Requiem." Delightful refreshments were served at the close of the program. Sweet Peas and Roses were used as the decorations.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY
Laura Ellsworth celebrated her seventh birthday yesterday afternoon, with fifteen girl friends as her guests. Games were played, after which refreshments were served. A cake with seven candles was the centerpiece, with the decorations carrying out the Halloween spirit. Miss Laura received many lovely remembrances of the occasion.

TEACHERS PICNIC
A picnic for the teachers who were attending the Burleigh county institute, was held at the tourist camp, Thursday evening, at which fifty were present. The usual picnic lunch was enjoyed with a campfire around which the teachers gathered to sing songs.

Picturesque Sleeves

The picturesque sleeves are the most noticeable feature of this brown moire frock. They are of pleated chiffon, a few shades lighter than the dress. The chiffon is also introduced in the under panel and the scarf that is a part of the outfit. Two very large buttons of brown composition serve as a trimming and also a fastening. This is a very charming outfit for afternoon tea or the matinee.

CAPITOL
Albert Rogell, director of "The Fighting Sap," starring Fred Thompson, coming to the Capitol Theatre tonight has more outdoor Westerns to his credit than any other director. Not only does he know the habits, the customs and the ways of the plains, but can ride, shoot a rope with any of the cowboys in the outfit. Under the guiding hand of Fred Burns, former world's champion roper, he learned to twirl the rope. Under Yakima Jim he learned to handle the pistol, and to ride with Horse Creek Johnston. All three of these men appear in "The Fighting Sap."

MR. KOFFEL'S DEATH BRINGS EXPRESSION

A telegram was received here by the officers of the Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., from August Hohenstein, commanding general of the order of which Theodore Koffel was Brigadier-General for North Dakota, expressing regret over the death of Mr. Koffel.

The telegram from San Francisco to R. E. Carlander, Assistant Adjutant-General, follows:
"Convey my expression of deep sorrow and sympathy to family of General Koffel and your department. Regret that I cannot come on account of distance. I mourn the loss of a dear friend and splendid Odd Fellow." Signed, August Hohenstein, Gen. Commanding.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Mint With Tea
Sprigs of fresh mint sprinkled with powdered sugar are delicious with iced tea.

Should Be Cemented
In order to give the best service, linoleum should be solidly cemented to a floor that is perfectly smooth and level, and an expert should be employed to do the job.

Two Coats of Paint
When matting is badly stained or faded, but still is not badly worn, it can be made presentable by giving it two coats of floor paint, after washing thoroughly with strong soda water.

Add Baking Powder
To keep the mixture on your pies from falling, add a quarter of a teaspoonful of baking powder.

Equal One Pound
Four cups of flour are equivalent to one pound.

Serve in Tomatoes
If you have only a limited amount of chicken salad for a luncheon, serve it in scooped-out tomatoes, and the helpings will not seem small.

Soap Door Hinge
You can stop the creaking of a door by rubbing the hinge with a piece of soap.

Add to Meat Loaf
Your meat loaf will be more at-

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

NORTH DAKOTA'S WHITE ELEPHANT
Each additional financial report of the North Dakota mill and elevator at Grand Forks emphasizes the failure of the project and the futility of continuing its operation until the state has sunk millions of dollars in it. After a year and a half of operation, the mill loses over $300,000 in one six-months period in a vain attempt to manufacture and sell flour at a profit. The total loss of $635,000, in two years, is an indication of how great a burden on the taxpayers this institution may become.

It is admitted that the mill has not lowered the cost of flour in North Dakota. Indeed, the accountant complains that North Dakota people pay a higher price for state mill flour than do people outside the state. The mill management is the task of breaking into markets against competitors who have built up their mills from small beginnings, has offered the fine flour it makes at low prices. It has not succeeded in capturing markets.

It is also built a great elevator at Grand Forks, to place where farmers might store their grain. It is a little used. The great, white grain tanks have been empty of farmers' grain, and have been used only partly to store grain needed by the mill.
Those who fought consistently against the state mill and elevator project are entitled to declare that they were not friends of "Big Business" in so doing, but that they were friends of the taxpayers of the state.

THE WIENER ROAST
That strange flickering light that you see in the woods is neither ghostly nor dangerous. The young folks are gathering for a wiener roast, that is all.
Approach, you members of the older generation, but don't make too much noise, or you may break the charm. The high gay laughter of boys and girls in their teens—could anything be lovelier, these Indian Summer nights?
There is a great deal of laughter, some shyness, and an immense consumption of sausages and hot coffee. The boys of this day know how to make a fire, too. They are graduate Boy Scouts, most of them, and not ashamed to exhibit their craft before a feminine audience.
One of the best things about a wiener roast is that the fire doesn't give much light. So after appetites have been appeased, the youngsters sit about, and stroll about in the semi-darkness, and into their healthy, happy minds and souls come the same thoughts and impulses that have moved young folk in all the countries.
It is a perfect picture—the drifting smoke, the wavering fire, the couples quietly pairing off, the occasional peep of laughter, the crescent harvest moon overhead. Well, well, Boys and girls! The same old story!

HARVEST HOME DAYS
To a few the approach of the fall season is a signal for indulgence in thoughts sad and melancholy. Summer with its sunshine and vacation has passed and the long winter is just ahead. There is another group, however—and a very large one—which is able to see in the autumn haze and changing leaves much that is wholesome and uplifting.
In scores of communities throughout the land these are the days of garnering in the fruits of the summer's toil. Ministers take advantage of the occasion for harvest home services. The young and buoyant look forward to Halloween, while father and mother perhaps dwell upon the approach of Thanksgiving, when sons, daughters and grandchildren will again sit about the old homestead's hospitable board, reveling alike in good food and fond memory.
City folk are far from unappreciative of vari-hued autumn but it is perhaps in the country and typical county seat towns that the season has its greatest meaning. Throughout New England and the Middle states the early fall heralds the coming of the county fair and the firemen's carnival, to say nothing of football and the opening of the hunting season.
It is in the fall that thoughts turn from the lighter summer pleasures to the more serious pursuits. Schools reopen and new interest is taken in church work, while cooler evening—and cozy firesides conspire with our favorite authors to renew the reading routine we so hastily dropped when warm sunshine, the spading fork and the lawn mower beckoned to us last spring.

SPEED RECORD
A mile in 23 seconds—Malcolm Campbell makes it in England with his auto, a 12-cylinder Sunbeam.
Ten years ago such speed would have astounded the world. No one pays much attention to it now, for airplanes are far faster. The importance of anything is entirely by contrast, or relativity. The goal of brain training should be to develop a sense of values for determining the importance of things and situations in relation to others. Values are relative.

Here is one of the rarest combinations—philanthropy and old-fashioned horse sense.
Dr. Becker, wealthy New York optician, will furnish eye-glasses free of charge to every school child in his city who needs but cannot afford them. He figures it will cost him $20,000. It will do more real good than 20 millions spent for economic investigation and similar bromidic "charity work."

SPECULATING ON MARS
All indications point to existence of animal and vegetable life on Mars, says Prof. Phillip Fox of Northwestern University.

To make them complete, those mansions in the sky will have to have hangars.

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A DREAM COLLEGE
(Columbus, Ohio, State Journal)
The plan for a college to be conducted by Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst, according to his own advanced ideas, has admittedly not yet proceeded beyond a visionary state. Even if such an institution is established it is doubtful if it will succeed in realizing the ideals of Dr. Meiklejohn, admirable as these are.

In his address on "The College of Tomorrow," Dr. Meiklejohn has outlined the college of his Utopia. The basis of it will be freedom of thought. In place of professors lecturing to students, "stuffing geese with chestnuts," as President Lowell has characterized the personal system, students will be taught to go to the sources of knowledge and thence to form their own opinions. It is a fine ideal, although not radically new. Many great teachers in colleges long existing have spent their lives endeavoring to teach students to do that identical thing, and occasionally they succeeded.

The danger is that even in the free, dream college, unshackled by trustees, some particular phase of thought may be mistaken for free thought, and imposed upon the students as tyrannically as ideas are now supposed to be foisted upon them. Research that is wholly free and untrammelled by these needs a rare combination of professor and student such as is seldom found in an undergraduate body.

However, Dr. Meiklejohn's plan or any other that aims to encourage independent thought is distinctly worth trying.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I am so very late getting around to all the babies," said the Sand Man, "that if you don't help me, I must get to my home at the end of the earth and sleep till tomorrow night. I'm very tired!"

"Why, of course, we'll help you, Mister Sand Man," said Nancy. "We still have our magic shoes and we can slip in at doors and windows like we Willie Winkles."

As she spoke she saw a cloak lying on the ground and picked it up. Instantly she faded from view. No one could see her any more than I can see China at this minute.

"Nancy, where are you?" cried Nick.

"I'm right here," said Nancy's voice. "What's wrong with you? Have you gone blind?"

"I don't know, but I can't see you," said Nick. "I know what it is. It's the invisible cloak that Tweed-janese dropped from the moon!"

"Oh, oh!" cried Nancy. "It's the very thing for tonight, Nick! Each of us will take a piece and when we go to drop the sand into the babies' eyes, they can't see us."

"If you don't mind, I'll have a piece myself," said the Sand Man. "I'm pretty smart about not being seen, but when my hay-fever comes on and I have to sneeze, I have a dreadful time not being discovered."

"Of course," said Nancy. "So she divided the cloak into three pieces, she and Nick each taking a piece with a pocket."

Then the Sand Man filled the pockets with magic sleepy sand out of his sack and everything was ready.

The moon was just over the top of the meeting-house steeple when the three workers started off over the house tops to put the babies to sleep.

By the time the moon was over the weathercock on the barn, the whole world was quiet.

"Action!" went the Sand Man. "I do believe my hay-fever is coming back."

"Where are you?" cried Nancy. "I can't see anybody."

"Where are you, yourself?" the Sand Man wanted to know.

"Why, we still have on the pieces of the invisible cloak!" laughed Nancy. "We must take them off."

"So they did and there they were, all three of them."

"We'll get the invisible cloak fixed and give it to the Sand Man," said Nancy. "It will keep him from catching cold, too."

"Fine!" cried Nick. "We'll go to the Green Wizard at once."

So they went to the tree where the Green Wizard lived and woke him up out of a sound sleep.

"Certainly, I'll fix it," said the kind old fellow. "Anything to oblige a friend."

So he said:
"One-ery, two-ery, three-ery, four."

Invisible cloak, be whole once more.

Instantly the cloak was mended. "Thank you," said the Sand Man, putting it on. "Good night, Twins, and thank you for helping me. I must get to my home at the end of the earth and sleep till tomorrow night. I'm very tired!"

So now you know, my dears, what troubles the Sand Man has, and why he is invisible, and everything. But mind you, when the Twins woke up next morning, they thought they had been dreaming.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRECOTT TO RUTH BURKE.
CONTINUED

Convulsively I threw my arms around John's neck, as there came to me the thought of that certain day when there must be separation between us.

"Every day I shall pray," I said, "that death shall take me first."

"Leslie, Leslie, you must not give way like this, dear, you will make yourself sick."

"But it is so cruel to separate those two people. I cannot, even now when we have been such a short time together, contemplate a life without you. Think how much more tragic it is for mother, of whose life dad had become an integral part."

John drew me closer in a way which told me that he, too, could not think of life without me. It was a moment, I think, when all false pride left both of us—a moment in which we knew how dependent we were upon each other.

"What, then, will it mean to us in the future, dear?" I asked, "when you have grown more necessary to me than now? I could not bear it—I know I could not."

"Yes, yes, you could, my girl, for you can bear what all widows of the world before you have borne. But you must not think of that now, dear heart. We have years and years together, and we must plan all the good times possible, and we must bring that dear mother of yours into them as far as she will come, and we must love to the uttermost and live all there is to live in every 24 hours, so that when the time comes when the hours can no more be counted together, we can say to death: 'The joy I have had, you cannot take from me.'"

"Leslie, dear, let's have no more misundestandings."

Gently I put my hand over his mouth. I did not want him to abuse himself. I wanted all our quarrels and bickerings to be put out of our lives and the grave closed and sealed.

I wonder if some day there will come a time when I will remember this conversation? I guess I am too greedy of happiness, too wishful of joy. That is the reason I am afraid of what time will bring to me.

I presume I want John to be a superman—and I am far from being a superwoman.

I was brought out of my sad reverie by John's saying:

"Dearest, I hate to leave you, but we must telegraph to Alice and Karl."

By the very way he repeated Karl's name I knew that as far as he was concerned, all was to be a sealed book in the future.

"I am also going to telegraph to Sydney Carton, if you don't mind. We've always been such great friends, and I, too, feel the need of someone to counsel with just at this time."

"Your father, Leslie, has placed a great responsibility upon me, and he has asked me to share it with no one, not even Karl."

"He has asked you to take charge of the business?" I asked quickly.

"Yes, dear."

Before he could tell me more, he was called away.

You can see, dear, this is going to make a great change in all our lives. I will write you some more when it is all over.

Lovingly,
LESLIE.

WHY THE CROWD GATHERED

By Albert Apple

The Woolworth Building houses 15,000 people—the population of quite an impressive town. This gigantic tower is a monument to the peculiar phenomenon that has congested people into cities much in the swarming spirit of bees. Man is fundamentally an individual.

He began that way. Time hasn't changed him, on the average, except in his sociological day-dreams.

Men congregated together, formed communities, primarily for mutual protection against enemy beasts and enemy tribesmen.

Men congregated perpetuated itself. Men found it best to be near each other for exchange of individual products. This tendency increased with specialization—which is the correct word for what is usually improperly called our "civilization." Genuine civilization is spiritual, not material.

There's talk of Chicago eventually being the world's largest city, stretching out to include Milwaukee, with a total of 50 millions population.

A turn of the tide—an exodus back to nature—is looming as a possible result of airplanes. People will be able to live far out and fly hundreds of miles to work in cities reduced to collections of factories, shops and theaters.

Radio will help a lot in breaking up the big cities. Sociologists already notice that radio is "diminishing crowds." H. Addington Bruce, psychologist, puts it this way:

"Through the wizardry of radio, recreations are brought into the home and the best of music, lectures, public addresses and sports may be enjoyed without the discomforts of crowds and crowding in public places."

Radio entertainment as we have it now is, of course, crude and infantile compared with its destined future. Radio movies will come. So will television, by which you'll sit in your home and on a small screen or in a lens see such events as airplane flights, presidential inaugurations, scientific wonders, travel tours, sports and other events that formerly have necessitated travel.

Man will not become a hermit.

But his swarming in crowds already has begun to wane as a result of auto, radio and airplane. Crowds usually have an undercurrent of mob insanity, contagious to the individual brain and conducive to mental and nervous disorders.

New York, Oct. 18.—He stood at the highest point in an upstate New York county.

Trees and bushes had been touched with gold and crimson. Green pastures sparkled in the sun.

Before him seven ranges of hills rolled away, one over the other, into infinity.

He stood there, silent, enraptured, for quite a long moment and then turned to his companion.

"Is that nature?" he asked.

"Is what nature?"

"All that," he answered, and made a vague gesture toward the vista before him.

"What do you mean, is what nature?" his uncomprehending companion answered.

"I mean—do things just grow that way? Or have the people who live here fixed up things like that?"

Now, if all those questions had been asked facetiously there would have been little point to recording them here.

But they were asked seriously. It was the first time that the inquisitive man had ever seen trees and other natural things growing any place except in the parks of New York City.

This man is thirty. He holds a responsible position in one of New York's banking institutions. He has had a fair education. His knowledge in some fields is unlimited.

Yet he didn't know a pine from an oak, wheat from timothy, a hen from a rooster. He thought that all the lakes in the hills were artificial reservoirs dammed up by the country hotel-keepers to create summer resorts.

There is no exaggeration in any of this.

There may not be many more inhabitants of New York City so colossally ignorant of the wonders of life as this man, but there are thousands here who know less of natural things than a country boy of six.

And those thousands think that beyond the Hudson river lies a vast territory inhabited by primitive people, a territory without which the United States could very well get along.

FABLES ON HEALTH
GIVE YOUR FEET A CHANCE

Give your feet a chance and they'll carry you long ways!

That was what Mr. Jones, physical director used to say in advising foot exercises.

Many persons think of exercising pretty nearly all the rest of the body but neglect the feet. This is particularly applicable to women.

Now so common a thing as toeing in or toeing out affects the muscles of the feet and the trunk muscles as well. And to correct the general posture it is necessary to begin from the bottom and work upward.

The first lesson to learn is: Toe straight ahead!

Then, to give the feet exercise, try this one in your daily doings:

When you get out of bed put your feet squarely on the floor. Then bend the toes up, keeping heel on floor. Do this as many times as you comfortably can. Try walking around the room on your heels. Reverse the first exercise by lifting the heel up and keeping the ball of the foot down.

Do the citizens think that is any encouragement for a leader or for the boys and girls that are trying to make something out of Bismarck can be proud of? I should say not. Come on Bismarck, wake up and let us next concert fill the house so they have to bang the S. R. O. sign out. You can do it if you will and make this Band the talk of the west. Then hear people say, "Just look at the Kid Band Bismarck has, it is one of the most valuable assets and advertisements that any City can have."

LOCALS DEFEAT MANDAN'S GRID ELEVEN, 6 TO 0

Forward Pass, Haas to Olson.
Gives Bismarck Only
Touchdown of Game

TEAMS FIGHT HARD

Bismarck Outclasses Mandan
Team But Has Difficulty
In Registering Victory

Bismarck High School's football eleven, playing a fine brand of football, defeated Mandan High School's cohorts, 6 to 0, on the Mandan field yesterday afternoon. The only fly in the ointment was that several Bismarck players were badly bruised up, and may not be in the best of shape for a return game, to be played in Bismarck Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The local team outclassed the Mandan team yesterday, and should have made a better score but for the dogged determination with which the Mandanites resisted the battering of the locals inside their 25-yard line.

Bismarck's touchdown came in the fourth quarter, about six minutes after it opened. With Boelter and Olson doing most of the carrying, the locals drove forward 20 yards and then a 25-yard forward pass from Haas landed safely in Olson's hands and he side-stepped two Mandan tacklers to cross the goal line. He failed to add an extra point for goal.

Gain Much Ground

Bismarck was in position to score no less than six times during the game, Mandan being on the defensive most of the time. Mandan lost one good chance in this quarter, having the ball on Bismarck's 10-yard line. A forward pass went over the goal line and the ball was put in play on the 20-yard line.

In the first quarter the locals started with a rush, but were stopped when they threatened the Mandan goal. Olson missed two attempted place kicks in this quarter.

The tackling of the Mandan team was excellent and did much to hold down the score. Burdick played his usual star game with the Mandan eleven, and was forced to leave the game in the fourth quarter. Bismarck tacklers, however, stopped him on end runs.

The locals used mostly off tackle drives and fake plays for gains, displaying fine open field work at times. Boelter and Olson gained the most ground for Bismarck. Left-house played hard until he was knocked out and forced to leave the game. Shepard also was hurt, but continued, and played well. Anderson and Bender, Bismarck tacklers, spoiled a lot of Mandan plays.

The teams were on fairly even terms in weight.

The lineup:

Bismarck	LE	Mandan
Shepard	LT	Morris
Bender	LG	Scitz
Russell	C	Reyman
Robidou	RG	Brandt
LeRoy	RF	Steele
Anderson	RE	Collins

CENTRAL WEST TEAMS BATTLE ON GRIDIRON

All Big Ten Teams in Action.
Some of Them in Important Football Games

Chicago, Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Championship aspirations of eight western conference football teams furnished the game of battle today as the struggle for the Big Ten season was faced by Illinois and Michigan at Urbana, in the new $1,700,000 Illini stadium with 67,000 seats sold. The tie of the teams for the title last year furnished another incentive of the teams for vigorous efforts and the result was expected to settle in the minds of fans the question of superiority for two years at least.

Illness affected Illinois to some extent before the game and the consequent slowing up of the team was expected to balance it more evenly with the Marines, shorn of Kipke and Blott, last season All-American stars. Warm weather handicapped both.

Three other games of championship calibre filled out today's Big Ten bill. Chicago had an advantage over Indiana in pre-season performance but the Hoosiers came to Stagg Field determined to reverse last year's 24 to 0 Maroon victory.

Northwestern, which toyed with its two pre-season foes and piled up 70 points with its own slate unsullied, met Purdue, which last year ruined the Purple's last chance to tally a single conference victory.

EVERY TEAM HAS 'EM

What Football Aggregation Would Be Complete Without the "Long and Short of It?"

WILLARD ARMSTRONG AND BOBBIE GRUND

This giant and pigmy will journey together 6000 miles this season with the Drake University football squad, said to be the greatest distance to be covered by any grid team in the country this year.

The "long" of it is Willard Armstrong, 200-pound guard. The small end is Bobbie Grund, 125-pound quarterback.

Wisconsin was an unknown quantity in its engagement with Minnesota at Madison. Ohio State and Iowa met non-conference opponents.

GREAT CROWDS SEE GAMES

Estimated 500,000 Will See Half Dozen Games

New York, Oct. 18.—Football will come into its own on eastern gridirons today with an array of games attracting not only exceptional interest but having a vital bearing on championship hopes of many outstanding eleven.

Seldom has this stage of the season witnessed a schedule including such notable battles as those between Yale and Dartmouth at New Haven, Harvard and Holy Cross at Cambridge, Army and Notre Dame at the polo grounds, Princeton and Navy at Palmer stadium and Pennsylvania and Columbia at Philadelphia.

These five attractions alone, it is estimated will attract throngs of probably a quarter of a million, while close to 500,000 altogether will witness the east's program, which

FOOTBALL STAR IS NEAR DEATH

Wadena, Minn. Oct. 18.—"Lottie" Wombach, Moorhead high school star half-back, who suffered a fractured skull, a broken cheek-bone and nose in a football game between Moorhead and Wadena two weeks ago, is again hovering between life and death, his physician announced today.

The plucky Moorhead griddier apparently had won his battle for life but kidney complications and frontal sinus have set in, accompanied by paresis, a degree of paralysis, his physician said. Wombach now is unable to talk.

Dr. J. Corbett, head specialist of the University of Minnesota, has again been called.

MRS. FERGUSON WINS SUIT

Austin, Tex., Oct. 18.—An injunction to prohibit the name of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic candidate for Governor in Texas, from going on the ballot was denied by the Texas supreme court today. The court also held that Mrs. Ferguson was qualified in every way, to hold office, if elected.

MOST NEWLY WEDS PLAN ON GETTING A CAR BUT END UP WITH A BABY CARRIAGE

As the ZR-3 nestled down to earth at Lakehurst, Bob Dorman, NEA Service photographer in an airplane, piloted by Jim Hay, one of the country's best known aviators, circled above the field. This remarkable air view resulted.

High above Times Square, "the cross-roads of the world," the ZR-3 proudly floated, looking like a great silver whale as it gently glided up out of the fog and thrilled the hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers who stopped in their mad rush to work to acclaim the notable achievement of the great airship and its crew.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT WAVERS EARLY TODAY

Irresponsible Cables Cause Hesitation

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Scattered selling at the outset lowered wheat values during the early dealings. Irresponsible cables from Liverpool were chiefly responsible for the early dip. Opening prices of wheat ranged from 1 cent higher to 1 cent lower, with Dec. $1.50 to $1.51 and May $1.51 to $1.52, followed by a state all day around and then later by a slight recovery.

Subsequently the bulls in the Northwest and general weakness evening up caused the market down grade. The finish was weak, with a net loss of 3/8 to 1 1/2 cents, with Dec. $1.50 to 1 1/4 and May $1.51 to 1 1/4.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT WOULD WAVER EARLY TODAY

Irresponsible Cables Cause Hesitation

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Scattered selling at the outset lowered wheat values during the early dealings. Irresponsible cables from Liverpool were chiefly responsible for the early dip. Opening prices of wheat ranged from 1/2 cent higher to 3/4 cent lower, with Dec. $1.50 to $1.51 and May $1.54 to 1/4 were followed by a material sag all around and then later by a slight recovery.

Subsequently the breaks in the Northwest and general week-end evening up carried the market down grade. The finish was weak, at a net loss of 3/8 to 1 1/2 cents, with Dec. $1.50 to 1/4 and May $1.53 to 1/4.

ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

LOCALS DEFEAT MANDAN'S GRID ELEVEN, 6 TO 0

Forward Pass, Haas to Olson, Gives Bismarck Only Touchdown of Game

TEAMS FIGHT HARD

Bismarck Outclasses Mandan Team But Has Difficulty In Registering Victory

Bismarck, B. T. School, defeated Mandan, N. D. High School, in a football game played at the Bismarck field Saturday afternoon. The only touchdown was the forward pass from Haas to Olson, which was the only one of the game. The Bismarck players were badly bruised, but they were able to win the game. The Mandan players were also bruised, but they were able to play the game. The game was a hard fought one, and it was a victory for Bismarck.

WILLARD ARMSTRONG AND ROPPLE GRUND

This game and many will be played together. Grund is the greatest distance to be covered by any grid team in the country this year. The "long" in it is Willard Armstrong, 200-pound guard. The small end is Ropple Grund, 125-pound quarterback.

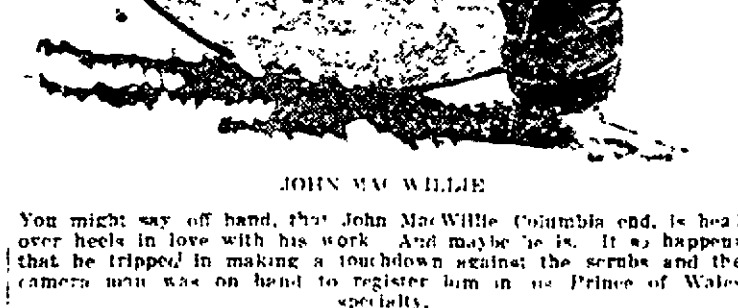

The local team outclassed the Mandan team yesterday, and should have made a better score, but for the dodged determination with which the Mandan players tried to win the game. The local team, however, was able to win the game. The Mandan team was a good one, but they were not able to win the game. The local team was a better one, and they were able to win the game.

Gain Much Ground
Bismarck was in a position to score no less than six times during the game. Mandan being on the defense, they were not able to score. The local team was a good one, and they were able to win the game.

FOOTBALL STAR IS NEAR DEATH

Wadena, Minn., Oct. 18.—"Lottie" Wombach, Moorhead high school star halfback who suffered a fractured skull, a broken cheekbone and nose in a football game between Moorhead and Wadena two weeks ago, is again hovering between life and death, his physician announced today.

The plucky Moorhead griddler apparently had won his battle for life but kidney complications and frontal sinus have set in, accompanied by paresis, a degree of paralysis, his physician said. Wombach now is unable to talk.

Dr. J. Corbett, head specialist of the University of Minnesota, has again been called.

PROSPERITY CLAIM MADE BY DEMOCRATS

John W. Davis Disputes
Statements Made By Charles Evans Hughes

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Determination to stress again the prosperity which he says the nation had enjoyed under Democratic administration and to answer particularly the statement of Charles E. Hughes that the Democrats had put a mine under prosperity and left the debris for Republicans to clean up was expressed today by John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President.

"Mr. Hughes well knows that the Republicans inherited the benefits of a clean and wholesome administration when they went into power in 1920," Mr. Davis said. "Business and prosperity had mounted to a high peak. If there is any debris it will be the Democrats who inherit it on March 4. Any thinking man will tell you the same thing."

BIG MOTORS HELD GONE

Development Proves They Are Not Needed

The day of the big displacement engine in motor cars is over in the opinion of Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Maxwell and Chrysler Motor Corporations. He said as much in an interview given out in New York yesterday. The unmistakable trend in every kind of gasoline engine today is toward a small, light weight, high compression motor, capable of running well at low, intermediate or high speeds, and extremely flexible, he pointed out.

For the 500-mile Indianapolis race in 1926, cars must be built with a cubic inch displacement of not more than 96 inches.

"This is quite different from the type of engines used in the first 500-mile race in 1911," he said. "At that time, engines with displacements up to 600 cubic inches were allowed. The little 118 to 122-inch cars which competed in the race there last Memorial Day would have run rings around those big cumbersome cars. The winning car at Indianapolis in 1911, which was 600 cubic inches displacement, averaged 74.08 miles an hour. Last Memorial Day the winning car, with a displacement of 120.8 cubic inches—about one-fifth as large—averaged 98.24 miles an hour.

"Had the two winning cars of 1911 and 1924 raced on the same track that day, the little 120-inch model would have won the race before the larger one had completed 360 miles. It would have won two hours ahead of time the 1911 winner could have made the distance. As a matter of fact, the 1911 winner wouldn't have been close to the tenth car this year. It would have been nearly 100 miles behind it.

"What has been accomplished by racing cars since 1911 has been duplicated by the manufacturers of passenger automobiles. The passenger engine of more than 300 cubic inches displacement is actually out of date today, save for exceptional instances. It carries too much weight for the performance of which it is capable.

SORLIE SOUGHT JOB AT MILL

Offered Place, He Says;
Sought It, Say Others

A. G. Sorlie, Nonpartisan League candidate for Governor, was an applicant for the position of manager of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks. Mr. Sorlie was not appointed, and now is a candidate for a position that would make him virtual boss of the mill anyway.

The information became public in a speech made by Mr. Sorlie, reported in the Bottineau Courier. He was reported as saying that the board of managers had offered him the management of the mill, because of his successful business experience, but that when they found out how he would run it, withdrew the offer.

Governor Nestos, chairman of the Industrial Commission, asked concerning the matter said: Mr. Sorlie's statement as reported in the Courier, if made, is wholly untrue. Mr. Sorlie solicited from the Industrial Commission the appointment as general manager of the mill and elevator, contending that general business experience was all that was necessary to run the institution. The industrial commission, believing that specific knowledge and successful experience in the management of the mill and elevator business was essential to success in managing the state enterprise, declined to appoint Sorlie. The reason for the selection of C. E. Austin as manager was that he had wide and successful experience in managing both mills and elevators."

MANY IDEAS ORIGINATED WITH OAKLAND

While the basic reason for the early growth of the motor car industry was the need for personal transportation, the fact that the industry has reached such gigantic proportions is due to its capacity for constant improvement of its product to meet the ever-changing needs of transportation.

New ideas—of design or manufacture—are quickly taken up. The industry is not static. It is eagerly open to new suggestions. That is why any motor car five years old looks so antiquated. It is a swift-moving industry.

Thus it is that each year, on some make of motor car, appears a new feature or a series of new features that are soon taken up by the whole industry. During the last year and a half the Oakland Motor Car company, one of the General Motors group, has introduced some of the most important new features of advanced design.

Oakland was the first motor car manufacturer to introduce Duco finish as standard on all its models. This type of finish is undoubtedly one of the most important developments since the beginning of the industry, and scarcely a month passes but an announcement is made that some other motor car company is adopting it as standard on certain or all models. Though automobile tops are scarcely ever put down, the majority of motor car tops are still of the collapsible type. Oakland was the first to introduce a permanent top.

DODGE BROTHERS TYPE-B SEDAN

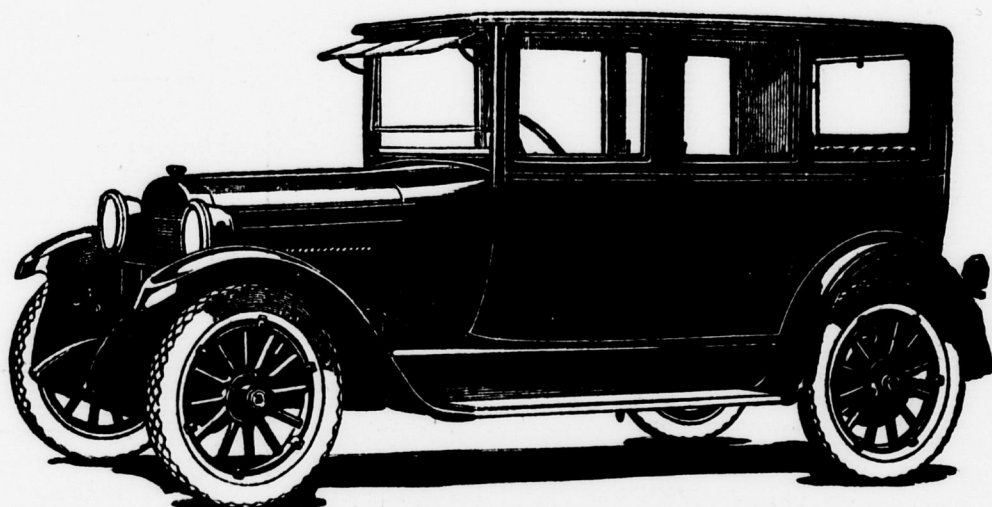

This car is now driven by a great many people who never before owned, and never intended to own a closed car.

It is driven daily over roads that heretofore were considered too rough and too heavy for anything except the sturdiest open cars.

As a matter of fact, the Type-B Sedan is as sturdy as an open car, and was built by Dodge Brothers for the same identical kind of service.

A Ride Will Prove All The Amazing Facts About The Chrysler Six

The fact that the Chrysler Six is not only different from conventional cars, but is vastly superior has created a demand that has taxed the resources of a great organization.

The whole country is talking about this car. You yourself have undoubtedly heard much about its performance, its economy and its other unusual characteristics.

But if you have not examined it, ridden in it, driven it, you have no real appreciation of the contribution it has made to the advancement of motoring.

There are many other things that will arouse your enthusiasm when you ride in the car. You will be especially impressed with the way space has been engineered. Chrysler cars are not excessive in size. Yet they offer the spacious comfort ordinarily associated with heavier cars.

A demonstration awaits you at any time that suits your convenience.
